MAYOR BOICE TRIAL ENDS IN HUNG JURY

Skinny Skribbles

Around And About Town

With C. F. (Skinny) SKIRVIN

Dr. R. A. Cushman, superintendent of the Mendocino State hospital, mingled with old Santa Ana friends this week. His professional activities are an oasis on the sands of time. These occasional pauses for rest and refreshment is the food of fellowship which help carry through "until we meet again." The doctor gets a lot of pleasure out of the visits, but he contributes a lot of pleasure also. This time I failed to encounter my old friend, but inquiry was made as to my whereabouts. The good doctor said he was familiar with my behavior.

And then a friend takes me into a secluded corner and extracts from the recesses of an inside pocket the "dope" sheet for today's races and points to the winners. He probably won't care to see me tomorrow.

I can't believe this: That Al. Tomblin has asked for a patent on a water-gauge for a rifle. But any tip coming from Capt. Henry Meehan is worthy of credulous receptivity.

And a friend comes to me to tell me that he has two friends who can play one accordion at the same time. But this friend has told me a lot of things in years gone by—some of them true.

All right, boys, I'm ready for the canary concert. The bird seed was delivered yesterday, so take your places in the aviary. The director will be along tomorrow.

Incidents of other days: Picture of San Gabriel mission recalls a visit to that shrine some thirty-seven years ago, when it wasn't so well protected as it is today, and when souvenir hunters found "specimen" collections easy. Saw one fellow appropriate a piece of rock and with guilty conscience drop it into his pocket. Just suppose there wasn't any witness to the theft. What of the still small voice which follows you from place to place?

After all it seems that Joe Louis didn't have "such a Man" to whip. Joe hardly gave the boys a run for their money. Maybe it wasn't his fault. His opponent didn't last long enough.

Political shadow which did not appear ground-hog day: The alleged gubernatorial aspiration of Senator Hiram Johnson, who is said to be weary of Washington life, and would like to close a long political career by being governor of his home state. So again—what?

Do you think it would help if we quit talking about safety driving? It's getting, if we accept the figures as an answer, that no one pays any attention to appeals for careful operation. The fatalities continue to increase. There is sometimes something to that old hint about "watching too much."

Always interested in the speed with which young men are now able to go through a newspaper office. Student delegations often call to see "how it's done," and they get through in half an hour. It took me fifty years, and I'm still trying to find out what it's all about.

"Yow Zah" Noel Berry gives me a market tip, but I don't own any of the stocks included in his advice, except a limited number of shares which most everybody else owns, and do not want to sell.

Two cars involved in incipient dispute, corner Bush and Fifth. Owners stop at the corner to discuss responsibility, leaving driver doors on both cars open and traffic doing the snake dance to get around the cars, a situation which involved more risk. They'll do it every time.

Tranquil labor conditions permitting, the 1938 Valencia orange harvest is expected to get under way early part of May.

U. S. Refuses Japan War Demand

SHARP NOTE DEFENSE FOR AMERICANS

Missionaries to Stay In Central China

HANKOW, China. (AP)—The government of the United States has told Japan in a blunt note that it has no intention of ordering evacuation of Americans in the central China war area as the Japanese army formally had requested. It was understood in diplomatic circles here that the note declared Americans have a perfect right to live and to carry on their duties in any part of China, regardless of the presence of the Japanese army.

The note was regarded as one of the sharpest documents from the United States government to Japan since the Chinese-Japanese war began. Authoritative sources here disclosed that Ambassador Joseph C. Grew had handed the United States note to the Japanese government at Tokyo.

Most of the Americans concerned are missionaries. It was recalled that after the sinking of the United States gunboat Panay by Japanese airplanes, Japan had guaranteed against infringement of, or interference with, the rights of the United States in China. Also Japan said then that steps would be taken to learn the whereabouts of American citizens in China, presumably to avoid danger to them.

The Japanese request for Americans and other foreigners to leave the vast Central China war area was made public Feb. 3.

Then it was announced that the Japanese embassy at Peiping, capital of the provisional government Japan has installed in North China, delivered to the American embassy a note which said that:

In view of the spread of hostilities Americans and other foreigners in the area designated should evacuate and mark their properties so Japanese airmen would not bomb them.

PLAYERS GIVE DRAMA TONIGHT

Curtain at 8:15 o'clock. "Tonight's presentation of 'The Last of the Mohicans' is the first of two performances ending the 1937-1938 season for the Santa Ana Community Players.

The play is slated for the Ebell auditorium, with an all-star Players' cast, directed by Gladys Simpson Shaffer.

The Sidney Howard success has met with unflinching appreciation from critics and public in both America and Europe since its initial showing in New York in 1932.

The cast includes Gertrude Horn as Abby, Leslie Steffensen as Dr. Haggart, Helen Johnson as Mrs. Haggart, Arthur Chapman as Talant, Wylie Carlyle as Rosen, John Colwell as Davenport, Betty Jo Willis as Susan, Florence Nalle as Ada, and Crawford Nalle as Warren.

Sleeping Driver Burns in Auto

VAN NUYS. (AP)—Earl H. Musley, 43, was burned to death early today as he sat at the wheel of his car in the rear of his home.

Police said Musley apparently had gone to sleep with a lighted cigarette in his mouth and the resulting flames trapped him in the automobile.

Marbles Skyrocket Weight of Boys at Jefferson School

Jefferson school boys and girls recently were weighed by a school nurse.

After remarkable gains were noted in the boys, it was discovered that all of them had pockets loaded with marbles.

The riles were repeated without the marbles.

DRAFT FOR INDUSTRY IS DEMANDED

FDR Gets Broad Power Under New War Plan

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The house military committee approved today a bill to give the President broad authority to prevent profiteering in war time.

The committee's action broke a long committee deadlock over the legislation, which President Roosevelt recommended in his national defense measure to congress.

The measure contains a provision for a universal draft of manpower and industry in wartime. The chief executive would have power to put a "ceiling" on prices. In addition the legislation provides for a "system of taxation which shall absorb all profits above a fair normal return to be fixed by congress."

The committee approved the legislation shortly after President Roosevelt told his press conference in a discussion of the relative merits of airplanes and battleships that always in the past when any new weapon of warfare was invented an antidote had been discovered for it.

The treasury secretary would be required by the war profits bill to transmit to congress on the opening day of its next session a recommendation for a tax plan provided by the measure.

PARKING MARK TANGLES COURT

Lawyers, witnesses and spectators filled Santa Ana city court for the bigger part of the afternoon yesterday—all because of an overtime parking ticket.

"His car was parked in the same place longer than the one-hour limit—we know because the mark was still on his tire," Curtis admitted last week the Budget and Police Officers J. W. Foster and Chester Gross.

"It was there only 25 minutes, and I can't help it if the mark showed up in the same place on the tire after I'd driven around in the car," declared the defendant, J. C. Metzgar, 1414 Durant street, manager of the Home Owned Business association. His testimony was backed up by two witnesses, R. S. Gering and J. H. Hayden. Attorney Arthur Koestel represented him.

Judge J. G. Mitchell took the case under advisement, will announce his decision at 2 p. m. next Thursday.

UNEMPLOYMENT PAY RECEIVED

More than 60 Orange county people without work are receiving weekly checks from the state unemployment funds, it was reported today from the local office at 501 West Fifth street.

Nearly 2000 persons have thus far filed claims for the compensation at the Orange county headquarters, but many of them must complete the requirements of the waiting periods before they are eligible.

Goodwill Flyers Leave for Home

LIMA, Peru. (AP)—The six United States army bombers took off today nonstop for Panama, en route home from their goodwill flight to South America. The first ship was away at 6:05 E. S. T., and the last at 6:17. They are expected to reach Lima in about nine hours and then go to Miami.

Arkansas Levees Break Under Flood Waters

Farmlands in southwestern Arkansas were inundated when protecting levees along the Red river broke under the pressure of surging water. The above scene, near Fulton, Ark., was the result of two levees breaking. Today the St. Francis river reached a new high in extreme Northeast Arkansas and laborers at Kennett, Mo., were rushed to fortify weakening banks with sandbags.

CURTIS GETS 10 YEAR TERM

William A. Curtis, convicted of bilking an elderly Tustin widow out of $700 for New Mexico "oil leases," was sentenced today to San Quentin prison for from one to 10 years.

Superior Judge H. G. Ames, in pronouncing judgment on Curtis after denying his probation application last week, told the promoter he would recommend to the state board of prison terms and paroles the longest possible sentence.

Curtis was convicted and Mrs. Louise Carr was acquitted by Judge Ames after a parade of witnesses, most of them elderly women in modest circumstances, told the court how the pair had talked them into putting their savings into New Mexico leases. Curtis admitted last week the deals were fraudulent, and that there was no oil drilling activity in the lease area.

Bridges in Huddle With CIO Counsel

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Harry Bridges, Pacific coast CIO director, arrived in the capital today and immediately went into conference with Lee Pressman, CIO general counsel.

The purpose of Bridges' visit was not announced. The labor department is investigating charges that the Australian born labor leader is a communist subject to deportation.

Bridges led the 1934 and 1936 Pacific coast waterfront strikes.

Goodwill Flyers Leave for Home

LIMA, Peru. (AP)—The six United States army bombers took off today nonstop for Panama, en route home from their goodwill flight to South America. The first ship was away at 6:05 E. S. T., and the last at 6:17. They are expected to reach Lima in about nine hours and then go to Miami.

Typewriter Case May Be Taken To Higher Court

An appeal to the state supreme court for a review loomed today in the county's long-drawn "typewriter case," decided yesterday against Supervisor N. E. West's "purchasing policy."

Purchasing Agent Eugene Fenelon, technical defendant in the case backed by the board of supervisors, may apply to the supreme court for a review, it was hinted today—provided his attorney, E. Z. McKinney, can find a conflicting appellate court decision which would allow the supreme court to step in.

A decision of the fourth district court of appeal yesterday administered a sharp blow to West's policy of distribution of county office equipment business among various dealers, terming it "a means of distributing patronage."

The court, according to a copy of its decision obtained today by Lew Blodgett, attorney for the winner, Auditor W. T. Lambert, affirmed a decision by Superior Judge G. K. Scovel here mandating Fenelon to buy an L. C. Smith typewriter for Lambert's office. The auditor's order had been refused by Fenelon.

STATE'S TAX INCOME JUMPS

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—Collection of taxes by the state in the last seven months continued to show increases of many millions of dollars over the same period of a year ago.

State Controller Harry B. Riley today said bank and corporation franchise tax exceeds last year's collections by approximately $3,000,000; personal income tax by $4,100,000, and inheritance tax by $3,400,000.

The 3 per cent retail sales tax, Riley stated, continues to be the principal source of revenue.

HOUSE STIRS TIDE OIL ROW

A congressional bill which would throw Huntington Beach's tideland oil into more court fights was on its way to a vote today, as the house judiciary committee finished hearings on the measure.

The bill would vest title of submerged coastal oil lands in the government, but would require the justice department to institute litigation to determine the true owners. Commander Howard Beisemeier of the navy told the committee.

William McGraw, Texas attorney general, and Beisemeier were closing witnesses, the Associated Press reported. McGraw contends that coast states have sovereign rights off their shorelines.

Former Rep. Thomas Blanton of Texas, representing unnamed California interests, declared the measure would not affect Texas nor the original 13 states (because they were original owners of their soil) but would apply principally to California.

He testified "much oil" was being produced in California without authority from anyone and the bill should be passed to protect the rights of the people.

Workman Jockeys For Seabiscuit

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Owner Charles S. Howard announced today that Raymond (Sonny) Workman would ride Seabiscuit in tomorrow's running of the $7500 Santa Anita handicap at Santa Anita park.

While Howard went no further, it was assumed that if Workman turns in a good ride on the mighty "Biscuit," he will get the assignment to ride the horse in the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap.

GAS SALES LOWER

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—California gasoline sales for January gave retailers a volume of 126,765,000 gallons, a little under the 128,532,000 gallons sold in January last year, but far ahead of the 1936 January business of 116,722,000 gallons.

Chinese hopes of breaking the Japanese offensive on the central or Lanchow railway front were strengthened by reports 25 new divisions were being mobilized and equipped for a counter offensive.

Japan also was confronted by a parliamentary deadlock over a dictatorial general mobilization bill which lower house opposition charged was copied after the Fascism of Germany and Italy.

Warriors on Spain's lower Aragon front, most active sector of the civil war, rested today.

ROOSEVELT WIRES HOPE TO PERSHING

World War Leader Still Critically Ill

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—President Roosevelt telegraphed encouragement to Gen. John J. Pershing yesterday, it was disclosed today.

The cheering message was read to the World War chief last night before he lapsed into unconsciousness. Contents of the telegram were not made public.

Pershing, whose condition became so critical last night physicians predicted the end was near, continued to rally today, and an official bulletin said his heart and blood pressure were improved.

"General Pershing's rally continues," said the 8:15 a. m. bulletin issued by Dr. Roland Davison. "He is now better than he has been since early yesterday afternoon."

The bulletin, however, contained the discouraging statement that "his condition must still be regarded as critical."

"No prediction can be made at this time," Dr. Davison stated.

The World War chief, who lapsed into unconsciousness at 9 p. m., causing his physicians to surmise he could not last long, rallied under the administration of heart stimulants and "partly regained consciousness."

The staff of physicians despaired of his life early in the evening and Dr. Vernon Mason, who was called from Los Angeles to consult with Dr. Davison and Lieut. Col. S. U. Marietta of San Antonio, Tex., made plane reservations to return home.

THREE KILLED IN AIR CRASH

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif. (AP)—Doctors strove today to save the life of James Lawrence, son of an English nobleman and only survivor of an airplane crash on the William Randolph Hearst ranch that killed Lord Terence Conyngham Plunket of London, his wife and their pilot.

In the meantime, authorities were investigating the tragic end of an early-morning flight today at Reno, Nev., that brought death to Robert Hancock, well-known Burlingame flyer and serious injuries to Adolph B. Spreckels, jr., and members of a San Francisco party.

Lawrence, his body covered with burns and his arm fractured, lay in San Luis Obispo sanitarium where he was removed late yesterday from the accident scene, 40 miles north of here. Dr. James Marshall said he expected Lawrence to recover.

The bodies of Lord and Lady Phillips and pilot, Philip Phillips, former Monrovia policeman, were brought to a mortuary here pending an inquest by Coroner C. W. Palmer.

Seeking to land his titled passengers and his traveling companion on a fog-shrouded airport at the ranch, Phillips overshot the field, one wing struck the ground and the plane crashed in flames.

The group had left Los Angeles at 2 p. m., for San Simon, where the Plunkets and Lawrence were to be guests of Hearst. The plane was owned by the publisher's San Francisco and Los Angeles newspapers. Phillips, who gave up his police work two years ago, was the plane's regular pilot.

JURORS SAID TEN TO TWO FOR DEFENSE

Case to Be Brought Up Again March 3

A deadlocked justice court jury hearing evidence in the $6.36 petty theft trial of elderly Dr. A. C. Boice, mayor of Orange, was dismissed late last night, when Foreman M. E. Bivins informed Justice of the peace D. J. Dodge there was no chance of reaching a verdict.

Two days of bickering, endless quarreling over jurors, and attempts to pin the blame for the "unlawful taking of city gasoline" on dead Walter J. Richardson, former water superintendent, ended in a moral victory for the mayor.

"No matter what the jury decides," Dr. Boice declared as the case went to the eight men and four women, "I know that 90 per cent of the people in Orange are for me."

FIGURES CORRECT

His figures were approximately correct. Ten of the jurors stood for acquittal, two for a guilty verdict.

The case will be set for trial again March 3, it was announced today.

Boice declared throughout that the charge was a "political conspiracy" directed by Councilman Dr. J. E. Riley in an attempt to oust Dr. Boice from his job as titular head of the Orange city government.

"Riley called me to his office," Boice testified in his own defense, "and told me a complaint charging petty theft had been sworn out against me, and that he had it."

"He said if I would resign from the council he would see that the whole matter was dropped."

SHARP, SHORT WORDS

"And what did you answer?" asked Defense Attorney Alec P. Nelson.

"I told him I would see him farther in the middle of hell than a pigeon can fly in a fortnight."

"I told him he was a dirty, mean, contemptible pup, and I meant it!"

Dr. Boice throughout testified that dead Superintendent Richardson "had told me I could take the gas." Other witnesses also claimed that the former water superintendent had given authority to fill Boice's car with city gas.

AUDIENCE UNRULY

At least twice during yesterday's hectic court session Judge Dodge was forced to threaten the crowded courtroom with dismissal in an effort to preserve order.

Testimony of Lewis Evans, who signed the complaint against Boice, precipitated a laughing, howling tumult, when Evans pulled a newspaper clipping from

Schuschnigg Pledges Freedom From German Nazis

AUSTRIANS JOYOUS AT DECISION

Independence From Hitler Is Promised

VIENNA. (AP)—Austria's patriotic marches in joyous celebration into the morning hours today to celebrate their chancellor's pledge the nation would remain independent of Germany and free of Nazism.

But Austrian Nazis were angered and there were some scattered demonstrations. There was also talk of a hitch in the new Austro-German friendship drafted by Chancellor Schuschnigg and Germany's Fuehrer Hitler at Berchtesgaden Feb. 12.

AGREEMENT TOLD
The essence of that agreement, Schuschnigg told parliament last night, was an unmistakable guarantee by Germany to respect Austria's sovereignty. It was, said the Austrian chancellor, a "milestone toward peace," a step to assure "permanent friendship."

Slowly, Schuschnigg gave his report of the Berchtesgaden talks, and ended 14 days of suspense by announcing "the beginning of a new political life."

To those who had feared Hitler had won a first definite step toward unification of Austria and Germany by getting amnesty for Austrian Nazi political prisoners and placing five pro-German Austrians in Schuschnigg's cabinet as the result of the Berchtesgaden talks, Schuschnigg replied ringing-ly:

NO PARTIES
"We did not make the map. But what we have we are bound and determined to keep."
"Austria must remain Austria."
"The constitution recognizes no parties and no party state."

Thus he gave assurance there would be no Anschluss, or union in the sense the two German-speaking nations would come under one administration, and warned Nazis against independent political activity.

There is only one legal political party in Austria and, the chancellor said, this fatherland front party is not really a party but "a single, compact front of our people" in which what is healthy in anyone's program will find a place in ours.

Californians Are Champion Wine Drinkers

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Americans drank 65,100,000 gallons of wine last year, an all time high, Harry A. Cadow, secretary of the Wine Institute, reported today.

The previous record was 60,400,000 gallons in 1936, and the pre-prohibition peak 56,629,000 in the fiscal year 1914-15.

California, which produced 88 per cent of the nation's wine, consumed 20,393,102 gallons, nearly one-third of the nation's total, and New York ranked second with 9,921,124 gallons. Illinois consumed 3,575,187 gallons, Louisiana 3,362,064, Ohio 3,220,000 and New Jersey 3,050,000.

BOICE JURY DISAGREES

his pocket to "prove the mayor is guilty."

The prosecution, headed by Assistant District Attorney Preston Turner, based its case on the technical fact, admitted by Boice, that he had taken $6.36 worth of city gasoline on five different occasions, without authority.

NOTHING WRONG
Boice testified he "had done nothing wrong," and that he bought 240 gallons of gasoline which he returned to the city tanks, when Riley and other members of the council told him the case would be dropped if the gasoline was returned.

Charges that at least five other city officials used city gasoline in their private cars were met by testimony supported by files of council meetings that such use had been authorized by the council.

Told on the stand was the lengthy story of repeated quarreling between Boice and Riley, culminating in the declaration a short time ago in City Attorney Gordon X. Richmond's office by Riley, that he "will fight the mayor to the bitter end."

RILEY RIGGED IT
A short time later, it was revealed, the matter of the gas theft was brought up, and Riley allegedly took the lead in forcing it to a head.

Complainant Evans testified Riley had brought the petty theft complaint to him and asked him to sign it. Riley himself admitted "talking it over" with a number of persons before Evans agreed to sign it.

Boice said off the stand that his "trouble with Riley" dated two years back to a contest between the two for the post of mayor, and that Riley had cherished a grudge against him ever since his defeat.

Judge Dodge's conduct of the case was characterized throughout by his persistent over-ruling of technical objections, on the ground the jury was "entitled to every bit of the story of this gasoline."

NATIONAL PARK AID SOUGHT

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The annual interior department supply bill, introduced in the house today, proposed expenditure of $18,869,672 for the National Park Service in the 1938-39 fiscal year.

This was $2,761,708 less than the current year's appropriation, but $75,842 more than budget estimates for next year. The appropriations committee made slight reductions on most of the items in the park service's list, and increased a few.

Among the latter, was $25,000 added to the appropriation for Sequoia National park, Cal., to develop crystal cave and an approach road.

Appropriations proposed for national parks included:
General Grant, Cal., $20,960;
Grand canyon, Ariz., $123,630;
Lassen Volcanic, Cal., $50,300;
Sequoia, Cal., $133,935; Yosemite, Cal., $311,920.

Man Robbed in Carbon Canyon

SAN BERNARDINO. (AP)—Two men armed with sawed-off shotguns robbed Robert Dunn, 25, of his taxicab and wallet, he reported to police today.

Dunn, thrown out of his machine on the Carbon canyon road, hitchhiked to Chino and told of his losses.

He said he picked up the two "fares" at a San Bernardino cafe last night, and was instructed to drive them to Chino. En route, the men drew sawed-off shotguns from beneath their overcoats, and one took over the wheel.

Dunn said his stolen wallet contained $3.

TOWNSENDITES URGE PARTY

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Townsend pension plan advocates were expected today to rally under the banner of a new political party bearing the name of Dr. Francis E. Townsend.

A cheering crowd, filling more than half of the Olympic auditorium's 10,400 seats, witnessed the launching of the "Townsend party" last night.

Russell T. Hand, chairman, asked all Townsendites to register as voters. Petitions will be circulated to put the party on the official ballot; in November, if not in California's August primary, hand said.

Dr. Townsend's jail sentence at Washington was protested at the meeting.

Arno B. Cammerer told a house appropriations sub-committee considering the interior department's 1939 appropriation bill.

SCOTT NAMES HOOVER IN OIL DEBATE

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Representative Scott (D., Calif.) told the house judiciary committee that former President Herbert Hoover was a principal stockholder of a company holding valuable land to which the government is seeking title.

The statement was made during a hearing on a bill which would give the federal government control of submerged coastal lands, sought particularly by the navy to build up oil reserves.

Scott who appeared in opposition of the bill, said the concern in which Hoover was interested was the Pacific Dock company, and that the land in question was created by the filling in of parts of the harbor at Long Beach, Calif.

STATUS OF PROPERTY

The status of this property, Scott said, was exactly the same as some properties of other large companies along the harbor where oil is being produced. He said he did not know if oil developments were under way on the Pacific Dock company property.

In his testimony the congressman charged that the Republican party of California was capitalizing on the land title dispute to further its own ends. He said the Republican administration of California took no action in the dispute in behalf of the people of the state until the federal government had displayed an interest.

"Heretofore the Republican administration has let things slide along and did nothing about the dispute."

WHAT SCOTT WANTS

"We want the city of Long Beach to bring suit against every individual or company that claims title to any of the coastal land in the harbor area, and decide who owns it," Scott said.

"The city won't and has not taken such action. Oil is being taken from that land by people who have no right to it."

Scott said he appeared at the request of the Long Beach city attorney, George Trammell, who asked that the congressman oppose the bill.

He was primarily interested, Scott said, in seeing that the question of ownership of the land be settled, and added he naturally hoped the states would be found owners of the submerged and title lands of their shores.

OTHER OPINIONS
He said such a decision would mean that Long Beach would inherit title to the land from the state and that the city might eventually be able to eliminate taxes by the development of oil.

Commander Harold Biesemeyer, he believed congress could assert title to the land in behalf of the government. He cited the national defense act of 1917 as the basis for his argument.

Attorney Frank Chambers of the justice department reiterated before the committee his belief that the dispute should be settled by the supreme court.

TOWNSEND NEWS, VIEWS

By WALTER R. LOBB

The writer of this column was surprised and much pleased to receive the below unsolicited letter from W. S. Schuck, editor of The Townsend National Weekly:

"Chicago, Ill.,
Feb. 19, 1938.
"Mr. Walter R. Lobb,
Lock Box 441,
Santa Ana, California.
"Dear Mr. Lobb:

"Dr. Townsend has called my attention to the series of excellent articles which you are publishing in The Santa Ana Journal. He was very much pleased with them, and we are all here at Headquarters appreciative of the good effort you are putting forth. My attention has been called to these from time to time previously, and I am seizing this opportunity to write and tell you of our sincere appreciation.

"Yours very truly,
"Townsend National Weekly
(Signed) "W. S. SCHUCK," "Editor."

This column is in receipt of a communication from J. A. Lewis, Columbus, Ohio, who is visiting at the home of Mrs. T. Vance, 420 West First street, Santa Ana. Mr. Lewis has been reading The Journal while in our city and makes the statement "I always look for your column first." His letter sets out reasons why he is for the Townsend National Recovery Plan. Somewhat condensed the writer is passing on to his readers some of Mr. Lewis' ideas as quoted below:

"I am for the Townsend National Recovery Plan because it is a cure for our national ills. It will make obsolete and unneeded present pensions, doles and other forms of charity. It will eliminate worry from the mind of the young as well as the old and create a paradise where chaos now exists. Fear, man's greatest enemy will be banished resulting in all of us being given an opportunity of having healthy, vigorous bodies, minds and souls. Crime will be checked and the need of penal and charitable institutions will be reduced to the minimum. Reduction in the cost of prosecution of criminals will run into the billions of dollars. Our taxes will be greatly reduced and may be found entirely unnecessary after the Townsend Plan becomes law.

"I contend that when the young are brought to a realization of its benefits, the plan will go over with a bang.

Later this column will discuss a question which the letter raises as to whether $200 is too much for the aged and whether the circulation of the Townsend money will result in uncontrollable inflation. This column will attempt to show why $200 is not too much for old age annuities, and that undesirable inflation will not result.

Orange Club No. 2 will meet tonight at 7 o'clock in the Townsend Club building on South Glassell street with Mrs. Gould presiding.

Santa Ana Club No. 11 will conduct a regular Townsend meeting at 7:30 tonight in the Franklin school at 1512 West Fourth street with Fred Seifert, president in charge. Four boys from the Julian Matthews studio will entertain with musical numbers.

Santa Ana Club No. 10 meets at 7:30 tonight in Townsend hall with Mrs. Edith L. Paul, president in charge. A regular business meeting will be conducted.

Mrs. Lettie Houston and Mrs. Jennie Bloomquist of Los Alamitos were visitors in Santa Ana, Wednesday. Mrs. Bloomquist is the wide awake secretary of the Townsend club of that place. She was in Santa Ana in connection with preparations for helping residents of her community make affiliation with the new Townsend party. She reports an enjoyable meeting of the club last week.

She also informed the writer of the serious illness which Mrs. Myra Robb has suffered but who is now recovering. Mrs. Robb's husband is a cousin of the writer of this column.

Fullerton Club No. 2 meets tonight in the Recreation Room of the California Hotel at the corner of Wilshire and North Spadra streets. Come on with those reports, Mrs. W. L. Campbell, as I can give your club's activities publicity.

28 Mountain Lions Killed for Bounty

SACRAMENTO, (AP)—Twenty-eight mountain lions were killed and turned into the fish and game division for bounty claims during January.

They were taken in 11 counties of the state.

Hunters from Ventura county accounted for six. Four were killed in Humboldt county; three each in Lake, Trinity, Siskiyou and Santa Barbara counties; two in San Diego and one each in Riverside, Napa, Kern and Monterey counties.

FOREST FIRE PRECAUTIONS PLANNED

SACRAMENTO, (AP)—The combined state and federal program for improvement of communication between fire lookout stations and state forest ranger stations will be in effect before the 1938 fire season opens.

State Forester M. B. Pratt said work is underway on a program to string 39 miles of telephone line and erect 51 buildings.

Most of the work is being done by Works Progress Administration employees with materials costing approximately $95,000 and the purpose of the program is to perfect existing fire suppression layouts.

Barracks for fire suppression crews are being constructed at Middletown, Lake county, and Susanville, Lassen county. The Middletown program also called for the building of an office, garage, warehouse and rangers' quarters. A garage is included in the Susanville program.

A warehouse, garage and rangers' quarters are planned at Red Bluff, Tehama county, with garage and office construction planned for Redding, Shasta county. An office and rangers' quarters will be built at Yreka, Siskiyou county.

Pratt reported the last fire season saw one of the lowest losses in the state's history. The 1937 loss was only $434,646 as compared to a 1936 loss of $3,173,705.

He credited the drop to a centralized system of dispatching crews to fires which was put into effect at the start of the season and the placing in service of additional fire suppression equipment.

MRS. ROOSEVELT SKETCHES TRIP

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt said at her press conference recently she would visit Texas, Arizona, New Mexico, California, Washington and possibly Idaho on her lecture tour March 7-21.

No detailed itinerary will be released, she said, as a matter of convenience. When her route is known, she said cities along the way will be requested for platform appearances, schools are dismissed and invitations become too numerous.

The spring tour will begin in Wichita Falls, Tex., and extend up the West Coast, she said.

THE FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Here and There With Southern California Artists

By DONALD BUTTON

Before the memory of the Camera Show presented at the Library the first of this month has entirely escaped you—

"And in making out your list of 'musts for seeing'—

Keep in mind the photography show which Orange County Cameramen will present in that same Library April 12th to 26th.

The brilliance of the things sent from away (in comparison to the local plates submitted to the committee) made of the February 1st showing an "outsider's" show.

The question as to what local cameramen might do with sufficient notice, stimulation, and with the standards for merit set up by the exhibitors in this last show was brought up and it was decided a show which should properly display the local ability would be as soon as possible forthcoming.

So it is, that April 12th to 26th will mark the acknowledgement of Orange County photographers in judging is to be done by three Los Angeles cameramen, so that the competition will be entirely free from "politics."

It does sound like a very interesting show, and as fast as details are completed, they will be presented in this column.

Tuesday will mark the opening of an exhibition of painting by Edith Scott, Claremont, at the Santa Ana Library.

Mrs. Scott's painting is so in contrast to her pleasant outward self that I do think you will find her work more than interesting. She has exhibited at San Diego, is a member of the Laguna Art Association, takes an active part in Claremont activities.

Too, she has a son, David, who is making a mark for himself in the painting world. Their common interest, and ability, is not often found.

The excited outcroppings of words and motions concerning Junior Colleges in the south of Orange County is still better evidence, to me, of our provincialism.

Fence Removal To Protect Deer

SACRAMENTO, (AP)—Removal of 2 1/2 miles of fence along railroad tracks in Modoc county is expected to prevent a recurrence this year of the killing of deer on the railway right of way Game Warden A. A. Jordan of Alturas reported.

Jordan said many deer were "trapped by trains or mangled by fences in their efforts to escape."

The Texas planning board is co-operating with the war department in locating manganese, beryl, and other essential war minerals.

State Ask Sheep Doctor at $260

SACRAMENTO, (AP)—A specialist in the diseases of sheep is wanted by the California department of agriculture and a civil service examination will be held March 17 to obtain an eligible list. The job will pay $260 a month and all applicants must be licensed to practice veterinary medicine in the state.

A senior insurance liquidation examination is also needed and men and women who want this work will be examined March 19. The job will pay $240 a month.

"ARE CAMELS REALLY DIFFERENT FROM OTHER CIGARETTES?"...a question of interest to every smoker

"I've never been very fussy about cigarettes myself. Do you think that Camels are really as different as some people say, Bill?"

"You bet they are different, John! A fellow in any work as hard as selling has to figure a lot of angles on his smoking, such as how it agrees with him. And just notice how many salesmen smoke Camels. I changed to Camels—smoked 'em steadily—and I found a distinct difference in the way I enjoyed all-day smoking. Camels agree with me!"

A FRIEND DROPS IN to see how Bill is coming with his model racing sloop. Daly passes the Camels and answers a natural question about smoking. "That all-cigarettes-are-alike talk doesn't square with my experience. Believe me, steady smoking is the test that shows Camels in a class by themselves."

MARITA'S PLANNING a grand feed. "We enjoy entertaining," Marita says. "I like to have plenty of Camels at the table. Camels certainly help to cheer up one's digestion."

ON WEEK-ENDS, Bill goes in for photography. Week days he "pounds the streets." "I get plenty tired," he says, "but when energy fails I get a quick 'lift' with a Camel."

... When H. W. DALY, 34, rayon salesman, says "Yes, Camels are really different," millions of other smokers stand ready to back him up. And that explains why Camels are preferred by the largest body of smokers ever known.

A KISS FROM MARITA (Mrs. Daly) and Bill is off to catch the 7:55 on which he commutes to his job in the city. The Dalys agree about most things. Among them, Camels. Mrs. Daly smoked them first, soon noticed a difference. "Now we find that Camels agree better with both of us," she says.

ONE SMOKER TELLS ANOTHER "Camels agree with me"

Lathrop School News

Lathrop's biggest, best, and most thrilling operetta "The Count and the Co-Ed" will be given this Friday evening at the High School auditorium. Miss Edith Cornell, director of the production, states that this year's cast is one of the best she has worked with and that every member taking part is unusually well adapted to his particular role. The glee clubs and the dances contribute a very important part in the success of the comedy.

The characters include Beverly Short, Betty Haynes, Nannette Hubbard, Charmon Carlson, Kenneth Crumley, James Carlisle, Mary McDougal, June Trusty, Rodney Helland, Marvin Mendenhall, Robert Greenwald, and Ben Farnell.

Every home room class in the school is working for the prizes offered in the ticket selling contest.

MENEGAZZO WINS

A seventh grader, David Menegazzo, took first honors in the operetta poster contest, open to the entire school. The judges, Miss Edith Cornell, Mrs. Marguerite Hill, and Mrs. Maxine Bryte found the task of making definite choices a difficult one due to the large number of splendid posters made. Many of the students worked long after school hours and at home.

The second prize poster was made by Betty Gowdy, ninth grader; and Laurence Todd, seventh grader, won third prize. Honorable mention was extended to Janice Wallingford, seventh grade; Walter MacFarlane, ninth grade; Don Haven, seventh grade; Ardith Robinson, seventh grade; James Adams, eighth grade; Richard Roehm, ninth grade; and George Okamoto, ninth grade.

Some of the posters have been placed in the Santa Ana business district to call attention to Friday's entertainment, and others have been distributed to the various rooms in the school.

GIRL'S CLUB

The Every Girl's Club held an impressive meeting last week at which time the old and new officers took part. Ruanne Neighbor, the outgoing president, gave a splendid talk which gave the meeting an air of formality. The retiring officers who walked up the center aisle with the newly elected officers were: President, Ruanne Neighbor; vice president, Molly Maloney; secretary, Peggy Lue Hoffman; treasurer, Jean Turner; reporter, Nannette Hubbard; cheer leader, Bennie Lee Martin; song leader, Mary Ruth McDougal.

The newly installed officers are: President, Ruth Murphy; vice president, Barbara Jones; secretary, Beverly Short; treasurer,

Following short talks by the retiring and new officers an impromptu program was enjoyed. The Lathrop trio sang a song, "True Confession;" Henrietta Baker gave a reading, and Katherine Stockton sang "Rosalie."

GIRL RESERVES

The eighth grade Girl Reserves, under the direction of their two new leaders, Jean Mullar and Pauline Cerve, held an interesting meeting last week at which time they discussed plans for an outing at Camp Emma Otis.

The following officers were elected to serve this semester: President, Mary Zahm; vice president, Marian Ashland; secretary, Barbara Nelson; treasurer, Nina Lundak; reporter, Marguerite Alvord; Inner Club Council, Betty Betts.

CLASS ELECTIONS

Mrs. Marguerite Hill's eighth grade home room class held its semi-annual election of officers recently. The nominees were numerous and the outcome close. The following students received the highest votes and are serving the class this semester: President, James Bayless; vice president, Wayne Burnett; secretary-treasurer, Marian Ashland; sergeant at arms, Billy Blackwell and Maxine Burnette; athletic manager, Raul Aguilar; uniform board, Betty Betts.

CLASS ELECTION

A short and snappy election took place in Miss Thrasher's ninth grade home room class when the following officers were elected to serve this final semester: President, Eugene Bond; vice president, Wayne Brooks; secretary, Jo Lorraine Adams; sergeant at arms, Edsel Bemies; reporter, Marian Blackburn.

AIR WORKERS TO BE TAKEN FOR A RIDE

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Thousands of Douglas Aircraft Company employees, most of whom have been making airplanes for years but never ridden in one, will have their opportunity for flights this week-end.

The TWA lines will bring two huge Douglas-built passenger ships to Clover field, adjacent to the Douglas factory, and take off with loads of joy-riders every 15 minutes, all day today and tomorrow.

Non-employees also may take rides.

One ship will accommodate 21 passengers, the other 25. From each of the fares of $1.25 for Douglas employees and $1.50 for outsiders, 25 cents will be diverted into the Douglas employees' welfare fund.

TWA expects to handle more than 3000 passengers.

Journalism instructor, Miss Vesta Nickerson, and four students from high school will attend the University of Southern California's annual Newspaper Day on Saturday, March 5. Delegates from high school and junior college publications are invited to meet on this occasion every year.

The Crombie Allen and two Daily Trojan trophies are regularly awarded at this time. All of these awards are based on improvement of a paper since last year. The Allen award is to be given to the high school paper having the greatest improvement in every respect. One Trojan trophy will be presented to the second best high school publication, and the other, to the winning junior college paper.

Program for Newspaper Day at the U. S. C. campus includes a meeting in Bovard auditorium in the morning, and a complimentary luncheon at noon in the Town and Gown Foyer. Awards will be presented at the luncheon.

EXCHANGE PROGRAMS

Inaugurating a new procedure in regard to student assemblies, Riverside Senior High school and Santa Ana Senior High school exchanged programs for this week's assemblies.

A group of Riverside students traveled to Santa Ana on Wednesday to present an assembly for the student body. Riverside's program featured piano, xylophone, clarinet and vocal solos; monologues and pantomimes, and two impersonations.

The combined offices of secretary-treasurer will be held by Patsy Miller, who replaced Pat Emission in the office.

ALCOHOLISM TALKS

Complying with state rules of education that facts about alcoholism be presented to students, talks have been given to the various physical education classes by Dr. A. F. Newcomb.

Dr. Newcomb offered statistics proving that 60% of traffic deaths for the fiscal years 1936-37 were caused by liquor. He also introduced facts concerning the physical and mental effects of liquor, habits of drink in other countries, intoxication tests, and other information.

Valencia asked for postponement of his preliminary hearing after conferring with the complaining witness.

CHURCH WAITS BIBLICAL SONGS

A musical program of the oldest lyric songs known, to the accompaniment of musical instruments of Bible times, will be presented Sunday at 7 p. m. at the United Presbyterian church by Jesse Phillips-Robertson, known as the "Singer of Psalms." He has spent years in Syria, Palestine and Egypt studying music, shepherd life and Hebrew folk songs, specializing in the last. This program is sponsored by the choir of the church.

Many of the folk songs Robertson has unearthed are so old that their date cannot be determined. He has revived the old-time instruments which he uses. These instruments may be inspected at the close of the program, and are the timbrel, 10-stringed psaltery, shepherd's flute, lute and silver trumpet.

An unusual feature of the program is the long-necked lute. This instrument is a copy of the lute of David's time and has been adapted to modern harmony.

CONSUMERS AGENCY IS RECOMMENDED

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Creation of a central consumer agency in the federal government to give consumers equal status with labor, business and agriculture was recommended today by a committee from the Consumer's National Federation.

The group said in a statement the "bargaining positions of labor, of farmers and of capital are strengthened by organization and legislation" and the "growing complexity of our economic life leaves the consumer in a progressively worse bargaining position."

The central agency proposed would initiate proceedings for the definition of standards of consumer goods, collect and publish information of value to consumers, represent consumers before regulatory bodies, and cooperate with an advisory inter-departmental committee for coordination and extension of consumer services now being performed in government departments.

The group also proposed an investigation by a special commission to determine how far current practices "lead to underconsumption, inadequate returns to farm and factory worker, and to business bankruptcy."

The group included Miss Helen Hall, chairman of the federation; Dr. Robert S. Lynd, vice chairman; Michael Quill, president of the Transport Workers' union; Mrs. Felice Lauria, executive secretary of the New York Consumers' league, and Dr. Ruth Ayres, of the federation.

LODGE WANTS PAY-AS-GO OLD-AGE AID

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Senator Lodge (R., Mass.) has proposed an amendment to the social security act to decrease old age taxes on workers and employers and to institute a "pay-as-you-go" policy to eliminate the contemplated $47,000,000,000 reserve fund.

Lodge told the senate his amendment would:

"1. Decrease payroll taxes; "2. Establish the pay-as-you-go policy with a moderate contingent fund; "3. Decentralize administration of this reserve;

"4. Nail down the money so that it will be used for old age pension and not for current costs of the government."

Lodge said his plan contemplated an initial rate of 1 per cent, increasing to a maximum of 5 per cent in 20 years.

The present payment rate, he said, is an initial rate of 2 per cent rising to 6 per cent in 12 years.

FOREIGN OIL FIRMS HIT BY CARDENAS

MEXICO CITY. (AP)—President Lazaro Cardenas attacked foreign oil companies in an address here as among "forces who fail to understand the work of the Mexican government and are trying to make it fail."

Speaking before the national congress of the confederation of Mexican workers, Cardenas charged the oil industry with "withdrawing all the economic assets" from the country as a result of conflict with labor. He admonished the workers to "be ready to resist the attack of such forces."

Cardenas said, however, he was "respectful of the independence of the several powers" of the government, and would not interfere with the supreme court's decision "whatever it might be" in the present conflict between the government and the oil industry.

The supreme court is expected to decide Friday an appeal by the foreign oil companies from an arbitral board decision upholding an order for increased benefits of more than $7,000,000 annually to the 18,000 employees of the industry.

GUFFEY OUT OF RACE FOR PENNSY HEAD

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Senator Guffey (D., Pa.) has eliminated himself as a possible candidate for governor of Pennsylvania.

He made the statement to reporters after a conference at the White House yesterday.

The conference attended by three other Pennsylvania Democratic chieftains, was arranged in an effort to establish harmony in the party's ranks in that state.

Governor Earle, an announced candidate for the senatorial nomination, said his position was unchanged.

Conferees declined to say when they emerged whether they had made any definite progress toward an agreement on a state ticket.

Earle, as spokesman for the group, said President Roosevelt had no suggestion to make except that he "needs Joe Guffey in the senate."

The governor emphasized that the President was taking no part in the political situation except to make that one suggestion about Guffey.

MODEST MAIDENS

"I just can't decide WHERE I want to go."

Brick Dust

It would seem that I've been missing one of the best social events of the season in Orange, where my good friend Mayor Boice is watching Judge D. J. Dodge of Costa Mesa preside in his council chamber.

From the looks of things yesterday afternoon, everyone in town was there.

Even Capt. Henry Meehan, the highway patrolman guy, arrayed in full dress uniform, complete with cap and pistol. I was going to say cap pistol, but I might run into that highly dangerous individual on the highway some day, and so—

Capt. Henry, however, seemed to feel in need of a bodyguard yesterday. He had a great big tough looking feller with him, introduced as Stan Wilson, of the Orange News. Maybe Stan was going to do his bodyguarding with a typewriter!

Other notables at the affair: City Judge Frank Hallman, probably picking up something about court procedure from Judge Dodge. Ewald Werner, a fellow fishing fiend and commander of the Legion post. City Attorney Gordon X. Richmond, probably happy that he wasn't required to prosecute—would HE have been on a spot? Yeah, and only three members of the city council—Kelley Watson, Jr., Carl Carlson and Henry Bandick.

Dr. J. E. Riley, whose name has been prominently mentioned in the case, was absent the first day, showing up during the last. He said he had some teeth to fill, therefore missed the affair.

One juror, P. I. Bird, when asked his occupation, said it was "loafing."

He certainly told the truth about his job, probably thought he had a right to, so, being a retired mail carrier!

And here's one for those folks who puzzle over these relationship puzzles.

Is a second cousin to your sister-in-law a relation? That deep question was propounded to the court by attorneys when Mrs. Dora C. Gunther was examined as a prospective juror. The judge said she was no relation, but excused her on the ground that being a second cousin to his sister-in-law possibly might prejudice her.

What do you think?

That chief of police man, George Franzen, invited me into his office, too.

Can you imagine anyone being so foolish as to go into the lair of a police chief? Unless, of course he was wearing handcuffs? Not the chief.

Well, I finally went into that private den, and came out alive, and with my purse as intact as could be expected on the day before payday.

Knowing that George has been staging a campaign against itinerants, I thought at first he was going to throw me into the Orange bastille, but he was in a pleasant humor and I had on my Sunday pants and therefore escaped such unpleasantness.

He hinted at a story about a dog, got me all worked up about it, and then wouldn't finish the story. It sounded so interesting that I'm going to work on it—hire a private detective if necessary. And then won't we have fun!

Maybe.

Somehow or other, talking about city officials made me think of City Clerk Frank P. Hart, my pal down at Newport.

Frank has been re-decorating the city hall. He fixed up a press table (note, other city councils) and painted the whole inside of the place.

The only time he slipped was when he neglected to paint the council table and chairs. Every thing else in the council room is as slick as you please, but the same old dark-colored paint remains where the city dads sit and work.

San Juan Capistrano School Addition Slated

BOARD ACTS TO CARE FOR INCREASE

Huge Enrollment Gain Shown in Figures

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO. Due to the present crowded conditions existing at San Juan Capistrano Union High school and in view of an anticipated steady growth in enrollment, the board of trustees has delegated T. C. Kistner, architect, to formulate plans for additions to the school plant.

When the present school buildings were built in 1921, the average daily attendance was 18, but has increased to 132 at the present time with a total enrollment of 142 pupils. Every available room is now occupied, as a classroom, even the dressing rooms off the stage in the auditorium and the building originally built for a poultry house. Many students have been denied admittance to certain classes due to lack of room.

The increase in enrollment has been fairly steady since 1931 and it has been especially marked during the past two years when the figures jumped from 81 to 142. At the present rate of increase it is estimated that the school will have an enrollment of approximately 500 students within 10 years and it is deemed advisable to lay plans for increasing the facilities at this time in order to keep ahead of the growth.

WOMEN HEAR SECURITY ACT EXPLAINED

LAGUNA BEACH.—Victor C. Broome, field manager for the Social Security division with headquarters at Long Beach, was the guest speaker of the Business and Professional Woman's club meeting Tuesday at Bird's Cafe.

Mrs. Ada Purpus, president, presided. Vocal solos by Ches Bethea, accompanied by Mrs. Jessie Riddell were given.

Mrs. Lytle Rankin, program chairman, introduced Broome who spoke on Social Security, saying that social security was not a new thing in the world, Germany having passed a similar law in the time of Bismark, while England had had a similar legislation for the purpose of the Scandinavian countries for the welfare of all their peoples is well known.

"Our Congress turned down this legislation more than 10 years ago," he said, "but, due to the depression, our present act was made effective Aug. 15, 1935, following recommendations of President Roosevelt's committee on Economic Security."

Broome gave the following example of the working of this act. "A man of 65 years in 1937 earning $3000 per year, if he continues at this rate his earnings at 65 will have earned $30,000. He will then receive one-half of one per cent per month of this sum plus $7.50 or $22.50 per month. If he dies before payment begins, his widow is to receive 3 1/2% of his accumulated payments. If he reaches the age of 65 before 92, he will get 3 1/2% of the accumulated payments in a lump sum."

At present there about 6 million employers paying into this fund for 38 million employees. Therefore 7 out of 10 people you meet on the street are affected by the Social Security act. The Institute of Public Opinion at New York has carefully considered the opinions of all classes of people in various sections of our country and it estimates that 70 per cent of our people are in favor of the act.

"At present," he said, "the small business man is out in the cold. This may be corrected later. Insurance men were greatly opposed to the act, but now that it has taught the working men that small monthly payments does provide some degree of security for old age, these working men and women are turning to insurance for added protection of the future and a vast field has been opened up for insurance."

The next regular meeting of the club will be held at Hotel Laguna.

VENEREAL FIGHT URGED IN SENATE

WASHINGTON, (AP) — A far flung federal campaign against venereal diseases, backed with $9,000,000 in government funds, won approval of the senate commerce committee today.

The committee asked the senate to enact legislation permitting a nationwide drive against syphilis and gonorrhea under the public health service.

Chairman Copeland (D., N. Y.) of the commerce committee, a physician, said the "war against these diseases must be fought on 48 fronts" in order to avoid the present waste of funds through "sporadic, unconcentrated local action."

The bill provides federal aid for "states, counties, health units and other public subdivisions of the states in establishing and maintaining adequate measures for control of venereal diseases."

The senate committee recommended expenditures of $3,000,000 and $6,000,000 respectively, in the next two fiscal years and $25,000,000 annually for each of the next 12 years. Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.) objected and this was stricken from a draft of the bill.

The committee estimated the diseases now caused annual expenditures of $10,000,000 for blind persons and more than $50,000,000 for insane persons.

Hearing brought testimony that physicians each year encounter 1,116,000 new cases of syphilis and 1,037,000 of gonorrhea.

Flying Explorer Plans Test for New Airplane

SAN DIEGO, (AP) — Richard Archbold, flying explorer for the American Museum of Natural History, planned to take off some time today on a nonstop flight to Miami, Fla., in his flying boat the Guba II.

"The flight will be just a training hop to test our celestial reckoning," said Archbold who will lead an exploration trip to New Guinea in the Guba II in April.

Playful Family Pays for Pastime

A Hollywood family roared through Santa Ana en route to a movie location near Laguna Beach last Thursday and yesterday the roaring had cost $30.

Father and son—Adrian and Louis Weiss, Los Angeles—were chasing each other through town, traveling 55 miles an hour when they reached Main and St. Andrews streets, according to Motor Officer Burnette Lane's speedometer.

They pleaded guilty in city court yesterday, paid $15 each.

Other speeding fines levied by Judge J. G. Mitchell: George W. Blasdel, Costa Mesa, $8; Harold F. Stowe, Santa Ana, $8; and William A. Nichols, Santa Ana, $6.

Retail Buying Shows No Change

NEW YORK, (AP) — Retail buying at leading centers of distribution this week averaged unchanged to 7 per cent under last week, and 3 to 8 per cent under a year ago, Dun & Bradstreet reported today.

"Unfavorable weather and unemployment spread stemmed the course of retail distribution, with deep price cuts failing to attract consumer interests," said the credit agency.

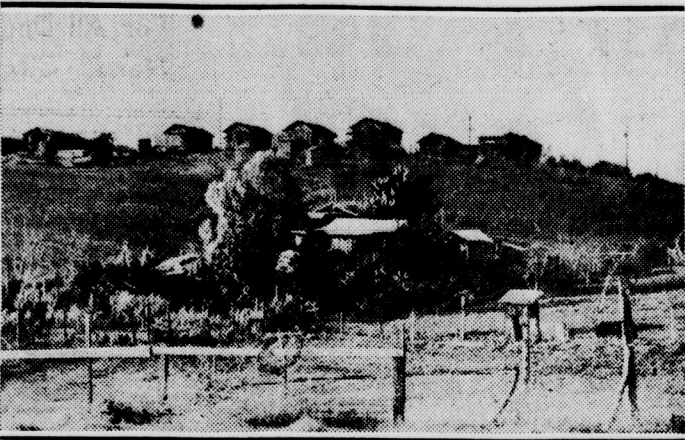

Cautious buying, it was pointed out, throttled markets, and lengthened the dip from 1937 levels.

Though retail trade lagged, some bright spots were noted.

LIGHTS LIFTED

A pair of fog lights valued at $5 was stolen from E. D. Caskey's car, parked in front of his home at 1535 East First street, last night.

Hog Ranch For A Neighbor

Mexican colony from the hill would seem to be enjoying God's good, fresh, clean air but the porkers nearby blanket the surrounding acres with something akin to tainted air. And then again when that wind starts over the out-door toilets its tainted some more.

By BOB GUILD

Nice view you have from the hill, isn't it? Good fresh air, clean surroundings, plenty of God's good earth to grow on.

The Mexican colony you see today seems to be all those things—and perhaps it might be.

But a hog ranch lies just a few yards away. Its typical aroma poisons every breath the 400 people in this camp draw. Other hundreds live out of sight, a little down the hill. They have the double pleasure of inhaling the garbage-laden breezes from the next door hog ranch, and receiving from the rain-washed drainage from the outdoor toilets of the group of houses on the hill.

Houses here, as elsewhere in the county, are one, two or three room affairs, unpapered and unpainted; unsanitary and unsightly.

Directly across the county from this northern camp lies a similar group of approximately 50 homes, crammed against the border of another hog ranch—there is no need to repeat the details.

Eight miles away, in one of the county's richest towns, this reporter found an apartment house group—considered very choice. A "court" surrounds a large bare patio of mud and rocks. In the one-story house we counted a dozen windows, 70 persons, and something like 7000 flies.

Rents vary from $4.50 to $5 a month depending on location of the apartments. Those on the corner are at a premium.

Half a block away, another court—24 two-room affairs—with rents from $10 to $5. Neither has a bathroom or an indoor toilet.

Women and children bathe in the old-fashioned tub on the floor of the living room, occasionally. The men walk five miles to a larger town, buy their baths for 15 cents in the barber shop.

Across the street from these courts is an abandoned pool room, with large windows, airy rooms, and three toilets. It was for sale once, at $800. When the Mexicans of the colony attempted to band together and buy it, they found the price $2000. A landlord, who now offers the place for rent at prices they cannot afford to pay, beat them to it.

A stone's throw from one of Santa Ana's better residence districts lies another choice spot—breeding place for flies and disease in unparalleled quantities because of its overcrowded, unsanitary conditions. Open toilets dot the back yards. In the winter the front yards are inches deep in muddy water.

In one house, there lives a family of nine—one bedroom, two beds, no kitchen.

But why keep this up? In Northern Orange county 14 camps were visited—more than 1200 homes. In Southern Orange county seven camps were visited.

Conditions everywhere are the same. The hopelessness and apathy of these people in the face of the appalling conditions under which they are forced to live is the saddest thing about the story. For years they have had no choice, no chance at better things. There simply are no other houses, no other way to live.

Today the federal government is offering a chance for something better. A chance to clear away our slums, cut disease a staggering blow, deal down delinquency and crime, and give 16,000 citizens

CLAUD RYAN IS HANGED

WALLA WALLA, Wash. (AP) — Claud H. Ryan, 34-year-old desperado convicted of the fatal shooting of a sheriff's deputy in a gun battle after a robbery, was hanged on the gallows at the state prison early today.

Ryan died for the murder of Deputy Sheriff S. R. Jackson, killed in a gun battle last summer while pursuing Ryan and Walter Seelert after a robbery in South Bend. Seelert, a former convict, was later killed by police in Denver, Colo.

T. B. Fund Drive Short of Quota

The Orange County Tuberculosis and Health association drive for funds fell short $2062.78 during the last campaign of reaching the goal of $10,000, it was learned in a report issued recently.

A total of 26,417 letters were mailed in 1937, of which 14,830 were replied to. Cash was returned in 6801 of the letters.

DEMOCRATS TO HEAR OLSON

Principal speaker at tonight's meeting of the Orange County Assembly of Democrats will be Culbert L. Olson, candidate for the Democratic nomination to the governorship of California. He will address the group at Junior College hall beginning at 8 o'clock.

Horace C. Head, chairman of the assembly, who will preside at the session this evening, said this morning, all Democratic gubernatorial candidates will be invited to speak before the county Democrats from time to time. Herbert Legg is expected here in March, Head related.

The executive committee will meet this evening for dinner in Daniger's cafe. A business session will begin about 7 o'clock.

TYPEWRITER WILL COST AROUND $500

COUNTY MAY PUT MACHINE 'UNDER GLASS'

February "Holidays" Celebrated With Bang

By FRANK ORR
Add February holidays: West week, celebrated in Orange county from Feb. 21 to 26, inclusive.

Laguna's Little Hercules has rung the bell, or more probably the gong, every legal working day this week. Some irrepressible soul at the courthouse wondered yesterday afternoon, just before this was written, whether there was any thunder left to rattle the West winds.

Monday a transcript of testimony before the grand jury was filed, kicking the slats out of some of his charges and indicating possible goings-on which led to his accusation.

Tuesday was a legal holiday. Nothing happened.

Wednesday the grand jury took another roundhouse swing at the West chin in its report.

Thursday the appellate court delivered a judicial right hook in its "typewriter case" decision.

To date, Friday is still open for engagements.

Although one justice intimated, when the typewriter case was argued before the appellate court, that Orange county's family feuds ought to be settled at home, the court did rule on the matter.

Its decision makes the purchasing agent not the stooge of the supervisors, but a buying agent for department heads who need typewriters, or paper clips, or a bottle of drinking water. If a department head believes Smith typewriters, or Sippy paper clips or Gluggo bottled water is the best, he gets it.

And, like the grand jury report and the supervisors' own decision in the Finley-Snow welfare fight—neither of which will be given much respect when the ruling is handed down to the court's ruling directs supervisors to do more supervising and less directing of internal affairs of departments.

West, of course, is mightily disappointed in the appellate court. It was his policy which Purchasing Agent Eugene Fenelon adopted—that of rotating business, in this case office equipment business, among various firms.

Allegations that the whole policy was motivated by a few hundred dollars sent with Bob Fernandez, who maintains it is the policy and not the feud which is uppermost in his mind. Origin of the feud, of course, still is obscure, although some say it developed over a real estate deal, or almost-deal, between the two.

It's fairly obvious, though, that Bill Lambert's L. C. Smith typewriter, ordered by him 'way last year, is going to be something of a luxury.

Typewriters cost a little over $100 now. This one, when you get through adding up attorneys' fees, rent on a typewriter while the supervisors fussed the case through two courts, plus the ordinary purchase price, is going to be something like a $500 machine. Perhaps it had better be put under glass.

Probability is that the county won't pay those attorneys' fees, and that Fenelon at least will have to dig up pay for his attorney, B. Z. McKinney, unless West and the other supervisors would like to do it themselves. District Attorney Bill Menton isn't so sure that the county ought to pay any attorneys' fees in an interior-house squabble—where his opinion, again ignored by the supervisors, again turned out to be right.

And if Lambert, as auditor finds a demand in his basket some morning for a few hundred dollars spent to fight him in a case where he won—watch closely for a hole in the ceiling.

I Just Found Out About Postmen

—By—
MILLARD BROWNE

If you're getting your daily mail from a different postman now than you did 10 years ago, it's better than an even chance that it was you, not the postman, who moved. Because the guy who brings your letters, bills and advertising circulars, with rare exceptions, is your most constant daily servant.

Santa Ana has 25 such servants and half a dozen substitutes, and majority of them have been carrying essentially the same postal route for more than a decade.

They walk from 14 to 16 miles a day if the route is in a well-populated residential district, a little less if it's a business area, more if it's a bicycle route close to the city limits.

Most mailmen like to walk, though a few develop "flat feet," have themselves transferred to bicycle routes or inside jobs after a few years of pavement pounding. Even those who like to walk, however, find their feet invariably begin to get heavy by mid-afternoon.

Postmen, all under civil service, start their day's work on schedule, end it after exactly eight hours of work. And most of them are so regular all along the route that customers on ordinary days can set their clocks by them.

There are certain big days for mailmen. Just before Christmas, of course, while Monday always is the heaviest day of each week, Thursday, for some unexplained reason, is light, and Friday busy.

Bills flood the mails first three days of each month, and monthly magazines coming out about the 15th cause some trouble. Because of their weight, magazines are bane of postmen's existence.

Maximum load for postmen is about 50 pounds, and if the mails are loaded with heavy material, they must make more frequent trips to storage boxes, conveniently placed on each route, to replenish their bags.

Mail carriers for the downtown routes leave the postoffice at 8 a. m. each day, must report at 6:30 a. m. to get mail lined up. Residential district carriers report at 6:45 or 7, leave at 8:30 a. m. with as big a load as they can carry.

Whatever mail postmen can't carry on the first trip is delivered by a second carrier later in the morning by two parcel post trucks.

Whenever mail comes in, clerks sort it according to route, have to know which route any address falls in. There are a separate set of bins for first class mail, magazines, papers, "flats" and packages (those up to four pounds, or the size of a shoe-box, are delivered, others are kept at the post-office and the owner notified).

Mail that has been assigned wrong, assigned to wrong routes and that marked for forwarding is brought back by the postmen, put in a bin marked "Nixies" and either redistributed, returned to the sender or shipped to the dead-letter office.

Downtown carriers have less territory, but they make three rounds a day, while those in outlying districts deliver only twice. Biggest area is a South Main street district covered on a bicycle by Fred Kirchhofer.

Carriers are supervised by Charles W. Berry, who was "one

West was among visitors at the county welfare department yesterday.

FARM BUREAU CHORUS GETS NEW IMPETUS

Since its reorganization in January, the Orange County Farm bureau chorus, under the leadership of Monroe Sharpless of the Fullerton Junior college, has increased its enrollment to more than fifty members.

"The interest in group singing and music harmony has met a responsive note among farm folks in Orange county," says Lyman Harpster, Anaheim, president of the chorus group. The chorus is one of the recreation projects sponsored by the farm bureau and the agricultural extension service, cooperating. It offers an outlet for rural music lovers and contributes to a balanced program of activities that makes for a broader scope of interest and co-operation in farm organization.

Harpster extends an invitation to anyone interested in chorus singing to join the rehearsals any Monday evening, 7:15 p. m., at the music room of the Orange High school. There are no fees. Instruction and director are made available through the adult education department of the high school.

Director Sharpless reports that the chorus has scheduled programs at several farm bureau centers in the county during the next two months. It will be featured also at the annual farm bureau picnic, May 14, and at a special Sunday afternoon concert on May 22.

The Orange county chorus will join a state-wide farm bureau chorus at the annual convention of the state organization at Sacramento next November.

The ladies auxiliary will serve cookies and cakes made from honey.

Evangelist and Wife. He Will Tell Why He Became Safe Cracker

The boss's safe can be opened without using nitroglycerine. A pair of keen eyes and a fair memory is all that's necessary, according to Evangelist Charles B. Dobbins, ex-convict, who is in charge of revival services nightly at Sixth and Bush streets.

Dobbins found pickings pretty good in an Arkansas sheriff's safe. He learned the combination to the iron box by watching the boss turn the little knob, carefully noting the combination, and then jotting down the figures for future reference.

Dobbins found occasion four or five times to draw upon the sheriff's fees neatly tucked away in the strong box. For those were the days when he was "riding the highway of sin," as he explains it.

One day the highway he was using took a sudden turn and Dobbins landed in a nearby roadhouse known as the Texas state penitentiary.

Sentence to two years in the big house of the biggest state in the union he was released in about 12 months, having attained the standing of head cook.

Then he went to Long Beach. Tango was running rife in the town's haven and Evangelist-to-be Dobbins obtained a job in one of the palaces. Persons are suckers to play the game, Dobbins says.

"The percentages are so highly in favor of the house Tango does not have to be crooked," for the house to win.

Dobbins was reaping $15 to $65 a day as an employee of the house when he started attending church. It suddenly dawned upon him that the wages of sin were far too low, even at $65 per day.

Like a flash he was converted and trod the path of righteousness. Before long he took to preaching, and during the past three years he has been in charge of evangelistic services.

A WORD TO THE WISE
CHANDLER, Minn.—J. G. McGishen, cashier of the State Bank of Chandler, found a bit of advice to holdup men was quite worthwhile.

"Better be careful, boys," said McGishen to two men as they pointed pistols at him. "This money is insured. The federal men will be after you."

The gunmen paused long enough to let it sink in. Then they fled.

HOUSING ACT FEATURES IN DETAIL

2. Repayment of the loan for modernization may spread over a period of years.

3. Cost of financing loans for modernization is left to the discretion of the lending institutions but under no circumstances will they be permitted to make a total charge in excess of an amount equivalent to a 5% discount per $100 original face value of a one year note.

4. Under the modernization clause of the Act, people also may borrow up to $2500 for the erection of a new structure. Under this provision no down payment is necessary, although security will be required in the form of a mortgage or deed of trust covering the property improved by such a new home.

Rush Parties Date Coeds At Jaysee

Rounds of rush parties have filled the evenings of Santa Ana Junior college coeds this week with Sisterhood of Spinners, Piloteers, and Moavs entertaining on alternate nights.

Rushes were invited to the hill-top Panorama home of Miss Audrey Sattler last evening where a carabete idea prevailed. Numerous card tables with green and white checked cloths, the Spinster colors, filled the long living room which overlooked the distant city lights.

Guests and members became acquainted at a bridge game which started the evening off. Tallies held a dancing girl dressed in shades of green. Decorations were planned by Miss Gloria Kirchner. Serving a Spanish carabete dinner on gayly colored pottery dishes tended the bridge game with coeds gathering at small tables lighted only by dripping candles in tall bottles, and with an open fire crackling on the hearth.

Later monopoly, lotto, and other games completed the remainder entertainment program, with prizes going to winners at each table. Each guest received a green and white checked napkin as a souvenir.

Members who were present included the Misses Jane King, Virginia Wilson, Marian Doty, Ruth Jump, Gloria Kirchner, Mary Henderson, Marjorie Lee Brown, Marjorie Kenyon, Delpha Wollert, Catherine Eklund, Barbara Knuth, Carolyn Davis, Virginia Scott, Lorraine Black, Maryann Newcomer, Elaine McReynolds, Marian Baxter, Virginia Pritchard, and the hostess Miss Sattler. Mrs. Grace Knip club advisor, was present.

An indoor scavenger hunt surprised guests when Piloteers, women's service club, held their rush party at the home of Miss Mary Koffman. Members were paired with guests and made a tour of the house in search for listed articles.

Large frosted rolls, gum and mint airplanes, and hot chocolate brought the hilarious group hunt to an end. Cootie games provided later entertainment.

Tiny airplane propellers, the club insignias, were replaced for that evening with George Washington hatchets, which were worn by those present bearing their names, in order to know each other better.

Those members who participated were the Misses Ruth Greenwald, Ruth Budd, Pauline Cave, Muriel Snyder, Merle Swingle, Helen Rhors, Freda Wagner, Kitty Slawson, Catherine Cooper, Nina Jones, Robertson, Anne Mae Archer, Dorothy Norwood, Marjorie Volmer, Maxine Huber, Jean Russell, and hostess, Miss Koffman. Miss Violet Bartholomew, advisor, attended the party.

Combining an early pot-luck supper with a theater party furnished the rush party activities for Moavs when they entertained rushers at the Irvine home of Miss Mary Knoche Tuesday evening.

Coeds met at 6 o'clock for the informal supper which provided an enjoyable menu for becoming better acquainted. Then a theater party was formed for the first show, "A Yank at Oxford."

Members who attended were the Misses Peggy Suduth, Eileen Reid, Marcella Stein, Jean McKamy, Anne Pellegrin, Barbara Villan, Jane Austin, Evelyn Richards, Jo Keeler, Evelyn Wright, Ray Nehrig, and the hostess, Miss Knoche. Miss Lucinda Griffith and Miss Edith Pithy, advisors, were present.

Because they already have their full quota, Las Meninas are not rushing coeds this semester. Instead members will have a party Monday evening at the home of Miss Percis Davis, with two jay-see women as guests.

Committee heads who have charge of planning games and refreshments besides the club president, Miss Helen Lowe, include Miss Josephine Burt, Miss Eileen Gibbs, Miss Billie Johnson and Miss Evangeline Pity.

Monday evening the five campus women's service clubs will hold their regular bi-monthly meeting and decide upon pledges and discussion plans for taking in new members.

Lovely red and white sweet peas made a festive decoration motif for a luncheon enjoyed this week by past presidents of Calumet auxiliary of United Spanish War Veterans. Special birthday remembrances were given Mrs. Eleanor Shaw, and a gift was sent Mrs. W. W. Tantlinger, whose wedding anniversary it was.

Mrs. Oella Cook was hostess to the group at her Orange home, with Mrs. Bertha Dixon assisting her. Pinchle and bridge were the afternoon's diversions, and high score prizes were awarded Mrs. Bertha E. Hellmer and Mrs. Emma King, Wassum.

The group made plans to entertain husbands at a supper party March 13 at the H. C. Moberly cabin at Silverado Canyon.

Present were the Mesdames Bess Moberly, Katherine Reagan, Fannie Reed, Emma King Wassum, Elva Hunt, Bertha E. Hellmer, Eleanor Shaw, Elizabeth Erickson, Edna Hannah, and Estelle Dresser.

Colonial Tea Is Pretty Affair

Quaint colonial costumes and lovely antique pieces of interest characterized a charming patriotic tea given yesterday afternoon by the Woman's Home Missionary society of the First Methodist church.

Seventy-five guests attended the affair, to be greeted first by Mrs. H. W. Guthrie wearing a pretty costume of beige silk with tight basque and fittues.

She graciously turned the chair over to Mrs. T. A. Winbiger, who in a flowered period frock with full puffed sleeves and skirt of pale green, presented each number of a musical program, as well as introducing Mrs. A. Alderman of Massachusetts, who spoke on her work among the Kentucky mountaineers, and Mrs. P. R. Arnold, who gave a group of patriotic readings.

Participating in the musical presentations were a trio composed of Mrs. Blanche Owens, Mrs. Jack Snow and Mrs. Harry Hays, accompanied by Miss Leonora Tompkins; Ralph Brooks, vocal soloist; Audria Fay, whistling soloist, and Mrs. Owens and Mrs. Hays, accompanied by Miss Tompkins, who gave a charming duet arrangement of "The Old Spinning Wheel," augmented by the presence of Mrs. J. H. Tompkins, who sat at the spinning wheel and turned it during their song.

Adding to the effect of the party were numerous quaint old pieces of furniture, lamps and dishes, as well as a group of Godey's Ladies' Books belonging to Mrs. J. C. Gardner.

Presiding over the handsome tea table were Mrs. J. S. Smart and Mrs. Fred Zaiser, likewise in pretty colonial frocks. Hostesses for the day were Miss Mary Lamb, Mrs. H. W. Guthrie, Mrs. J. W. Mary Hampton's Column

Jackets and coat lengths! Now that is a complicated subject, indeed! It is all very much like one of those horse races in which a most unusually large number of horses are strung out across the starting line. In small races it is baffling enough to make a bet on a good horse—but with so many it is downright bewildering. And what is more—anything can happen.

Now there are sort of two favorites in this race. One is the box topper—this year's version of what we called the jigger coat last year. And the other is the bolero! Yet with these two headline possibilities running there is also a sort of old stand-by which might do anything from lead by a length to be a mere third. That is the usual hip-length, fitted jacket. After this, everything goes. Paris too, is agitating a new fitted jacket which is longer down over the hips. And then there are boleros which hang so loose and long below the waistline that they become coats. Practically any and every length has some great designer backing it—so the wise act is to choose just what sort of coat, and coat-length, that does the most for you individually!

About long coats, the very same thing is true. There are the finger-tip toppers—and longer ones as well. There are flared loose-hanging coats—and snugly fitted, moulded coats. There are redingotes—and coats with belts and even a bloused back!

Most of them have a widened shoulder still. That much they do have in common. But when it comes to necklines, the upset starts in again. Lots of chic jackets and coats for spring have no collars at all. But when they do have them, anything can happen from a close little Peter-Pan to a tuxedo of fur down to the hemline in front!

I'd say the wily manner of approach might be something like this. First an earnest consultation with your own most spontaneous instincts about the sort of jacket or coat it would be the most real fun to wear. Then a sane checking up on whether such joyousness will fit in with practicality. And after this, a very critical consideration of what the choice does to your own figure. If that cannot be brought to the most admirable agreement—well, you just have to start the whole round over again on another track! Such is the price of attractiveness!

Dear Sally: I know just what you mean by that "dreary feeling." Costumes do it at times—sometimes the most expensive and loveliest of them—but all they need is a vivid, unexpected accent and they blossom at once! This yellowish tweed needs a gay sweater—perhaps a yellow with brown monogram over the heart!

I like the idea of brown ghillies—that new sort with high Cuban heels are dashing with just such town and country suits. And the brown sport is swanky—only get yellow chamois gloves, and pin a gay spring jonquil, with all its yellow, to your lapel! Or go buy the silliest doo-dab you can find to pin to your lapel—and something vivid with color! There is magic in lapel nonsense!

Mrs. Gustlin Has Second Luncheon

Two delightful spring luncheon parties have been hosted during February by Mrs. Clarence Gustlin, who gave the second affair yesterday afternoon.

The hospitable Gustlin home at 816 North Main street provided a setting for both affairs, the earlier of which was given last Thursday, and which also found four tables in play. Masses of white stock from her garden were used to decorate in both instances by Mrs. Gustlin, with smaller bowls of spring blossoms on individual tables.

Prize winners yesterday were Mrs. John L. Wehrly and Mrs. Terry Stephenson. Guests of Mrs. Gustlin were Mrs. Stephenson, Mrs. Sherman Stevens, Mrs. John L. Wehrly, Mrs. John Backus, Mrs. Hugh Plumb, Mrs. Hugh Lowe, Mrs. Rex Kennedy, Mrs. Braden Finch, Mrs. Lloyd King, Mrs. Cassius Paul, Mrs. Glenn Mathis, Mrs. M. B. Wellington, Mrs. E. D. White, Mrs. Milton MacMurray, Mrs. Lloyd Chowneth, and Mrs. Robert Finch and Mrs. Walter Finch of Fullerton.

Biographies Reviewed At Ebell

Delicious and unusual refreshments, a Bohemian tea course, concluded last night's monthly meeting of Thursday Evening Literary section of Ebell club, when members gathered at the home of Mrs. Horace Leeding on North Flower street.

Co-hostesses with Mrs. Leeding were Mrs. Eugene Robinson, Mrs. Wendell Finley and Mrs. R. C. Harris, and they centered their tea-table with delicate yellow nasturtiums and harmonizing tapers.

A delightful program had earlier been heard, with Mrs. Alice Hill Hatch reviewing two stimulating new biographies, "Adventure With a Genius," recollections of his life as one of Joseph Pulitzer's secretaries, by Alleyne Ireland, proved to be very amusing.

"Edna St. Vincent Millay and Her Times," by Elizabeth Atkins was likewise stimulating, but in a more serious vein.

Four guests were present, Mrs. H. P. Jackson, Mrs. J. P. Allen, Mrs. Edna Vorhis and Miss Lulu B. Finley.

Members present were the Mesdames J. B. Bascom, Robert Biles, Lynn Crawford, George Paul, C. H. Holmes, Lyle Mitchell, Harold Moomaw, Cassius Paul, Stanley Reinham, Ferris Scott, Ridley Smith, Dr. Stella Davis and Helen Glancy.

MOVE MADE TO RE-ELECT CARDENAS

MEXICO, D. F. (AP)—A new movement for President Lazaro Cardenas' reelection was launched this week as Congress got ready for an extraordinary session in March.

This time, the National Federation of Employees of the Electrical Industries was responsible for injecting new life into the recurring efforts to keep "labor's president" in office six years more.

At its general assembly, the federation approved the proposal of the syndicate of electrical, gas, water and drainage workers of Monterrey that the congress be formally petitioned to initiate reform of the constitution to let Cardenas run again.

The constitution, as it stands, provides no president may succeed himself.

TWO-THIRDS MAJORITY
For Cardenas to stand at the 1940 elections, congress must vote by two-thirds majority in each its houses to amend the constitution and the reform must subsequently be approved by a majority of the state legislatures.

That would not be difficult nor would it require much time, most observers agree, should the influential president lend his support to the drive to reelect him.

However, few believe he will do so.

He has said times and again, apparently in all sincerity, that he will abandon the presidency, quit politics and leave Mexico City when his term ends in December 1940. He has said further he will have no hand in electing his successor.

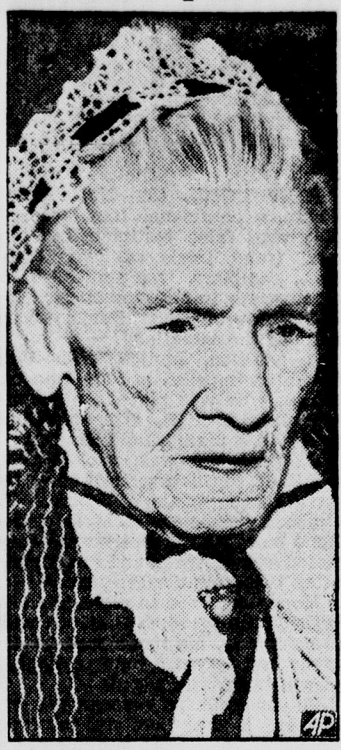

Persons close to the executive, commenting upon the electrical workers' initiative, said his stand again reelection had not changed one whit.

The matter of the presidential succession was not the only one booked for congressional consideration next month. Other tentatively on the calendar:

TARIFF REDUCTIONS
1. Reduction of the drastic tariff increases, ranging up to 500 per cent, the finance ministry put into effect last month on some 200 articles Mexico imports. Purpose of the move was to keep money at home, thus protecting the shaking position of the peso. It has boomeranged, however, shaking business confidence to an extent Finance Minister Suarez did not foresee. Too, Washington, seeking to lower trade barriers, has not been pleased. Legislators say Cardenas will ask them to revise the tariff schedules.

2. Amendment of the constitution to let women vote, and give them equal rights with men. Cardenas asked this insistently of the regular session which ended Dec. 31, but the lawmakers failed to get around to it. They expect to do so in March.

Thespian

As Carrie Novarre, Mrs. Edwin Wright (above) spent 42 years on the stage, first as a chorus girl and later as a soubrette in burlesque. Now she is observing her 100th birthday in Phoenix, Ariz. She started her career at 16 in Nashville.

Millions Left Nameless in Banks

OTTAWA. — Forgetful Canadians have left $2,833,576 lying around in banks unclaimed. Most of this amount is the total of deposits untouched for years, rightfully belonging to persons who have forgotten about it.

Some of it is in the names of persons who have died since making last deposits, according to the finance minister.

denas asked this insistently of the regular session which ended Dec. 31, but the lawmakers failed to get around to it. They expect to do so in March.

AGAINST THIEVES
3. Legislation to prevent theft of electric current. Because thefts take 25 per cent of the total power output in the federal district, the industry has refused to expand to take care of the area's growing needs until it is afforded protection. This, too, Cardenas asked of the last congress.

4. A law of civic responsibility for public employees, giving the government the right to confiscate their properties to cover losses it sustains through peculations.

5. A law defining the status of government workers as regards their right to organize, strike and enjoy privileges granted labor in private industry.

MONTY'S STORE REMODELED

At an expense of over $500 in equipment, V. L. "Monty" Motry has just completed the remodeling of his Red & White store, located at 811 Highland, Santa Ana. Alterations and improvements in the market were made with the complete satisfaction of his customers in mind, he said.

"A new automatic sprayer and new spacious gondolas for the fresh fruit and vegetable department, a new automatic refrigeration unit for the soda stand and a new shelf for candies, encased in glass to accommodate the many children who patronize the store are some of the changes. Display cases and counters have been redecorated so that the more than a hundred cases of merchandise on display at all times can be more easily inspected by visitors. He continued:

"I started my store here in this location 15 years ago and was one of the first men to sign up with the Red and White organization in this city. Since that time, largely through the benefits accrued from my membership in the Red and White organization, I have been able to build my business to an investment representing more than $15,000.

"There is one department in the store that I take particular pride in—the meat shop. People from all parts of town come here to select cuts of U. S. inspected baby beef. The beef here has won a reputation second to none."

Assisting Monty in rendering a really personal, courteous service is Mrs. Motry. A speedy delivery, making two regular trips a day and special deliveries when desired, are featured.

Flyer's Death Dive Starts Beach Quiz

SANTA MONICA. (AP)—An investigation started here today to determine the cause of the crash yesterday of an open monoplane that killed Tom Joy, 21, of Detroit, Mich., and James Clark, 22, of Pasadena.

The young men were crushed in the cockpit as the plane dived into a plowed meadow shortly after taking off from Clover field, the Santa Monica airport.

MINE COMPRESSOR

WINNEMUCA, Nev. (AP)—A. E. Owen and John Bernan, interested in mining property in the Awakening district, are planning to install a compressor at the mine and will soon start cross-cutting their claims, it was reported this week.

ICKES RADIO TALK LASHED

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Secretary Ickes' recent broadcast to the British Empire was said by representative Taber (R., N. Y.) to be "dangerous to the peace and liberty of this country."

"I call on the President to explain if this broadcast has approval of the administration," Taber shouted to the house. "I call on him to say whether he is embarking on a program of Stalin of Russia, or Hitler of Germany to promote Nazism in the United States."

The congressman contended the speech which touched on this

Pledge Cards Up In CIO Hearing

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Pledge cards which longshoremen signed when their organization switched from the AFL to the CIO were the chief topic discussed at the labor board hearing here today on a jurisdictional dispute between the two groups.

J. C. Clark, chairman of the labor relations committee of the San Francisco CIO local, the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's union, said the men signed the cards voluntarily.

country's position in world affairs, was "the most dangerous thing to international relations that has come in a generation."

HILL FOLK LEARN SPEECH

GATLINBURG, Tenn. (AP)—Mountain folk "way up hyar" are beginning to talk just like the folk "way down thar."

That is what Joseph S. Hall, youthful linguist of Columbia university, has found in classifying the speech of more than 100 persons in the heart of the Great Smoky mountains.

The quaint hill-billy language which was a heritage from Scotland and England is being discarded by the young mountaineers of sturdy Anglo-Saxon stock.

Unlike their parents and grandparents, they now say "first" instead of "fust" and "worst" in-

GLASS FALSE TEETH
OSLO. — Glass false teeth are a success, two scientists here who have just developed the innovation claim. They make dental plates from glass, fusing in enamel teeth. Such teeth are superior cosmetically and hygienically, they believe.

stead of "wust," Hall found. And he heard but one boy—who had never been to school—say "larn" for "learn."

"Younger persons," he commented, "are likely to say 'afraid' while older people say 'a-faird.' It is interesting to note that this latter word is still in general dialectal use throughout England, Scotland and Ireland and that it was a feature of the approved literary speech during the time of Queen Elizabeth.

PATROL POLICE ADMITS CHARGE

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—Chief E. Raymond Cato of the California highway patrol today revealed that Highway Patrol Serg. M. G. Nicoll of Mono county, has admitted misappropriation of approximately $2000 in state motor vehicle license funds.

Nicoll, Cato said, first took $200 in state funds with which to gamble in a resort in Bridgeport, Mono county. Losing this sum, Cato said, Nicoll then took a second amount of $600 which he lost and continued to take state money and gamble in an attempt to recoup his losses.

The Wrong Murderer

By HUGH CLEVELY

SYNOPSIS
Tarence Mahony has learned that an attempt is to be made to kidnap Elsa Little, film star, at the Cinema Ball. Tarence knows that Ambrose Lawson, respected friend of the Littles, is behind the plot. So he goes to the ball, joins in the kidnaping through a clever ruse, and then turns on the kidnapers and rescues Elsa. Meanwhile Lawson has announced Elsa's disappearance to Mr. Little, and Little has called the police. A knock is heard at the Little door.

Chapter Seven MURDER

Mr. Little left the room. Lawson waited. His dark eyes were glowing, and his fists were tightly clenched. All his muscles were taut with suspense. From inside the study he heard the front door open. Mahony's voice sounded in the hall.

"I've brought Miss Little home. She's unconscious. But I don't think there's much wrong with her."

Lawson's tensed muscles relaxed. Now he knew the worst. In the hall he heard Mr. Little's voice, hoarse and indignant.

"What does this mean? What have you been doing to her? Elsa! . . . What's the matter with her? Has she been hurt?"

Through the slightly open doorway Lawson could see a black-garbed monk in the hall, with Elsa in his arms. So that was what Mahony had done—pretended to be one of his own men. In that case he had probably carried out this business single-handed. And if so, there was hope for him yet.

He glanced around him quickly. Hanging over the fireplace was a small, sharp-pointed ornamental dagger. He picked it up and crouched against the wall of the room, just inside the doorway.

Mahony saw the light in the study and made for the study door.

"She was kidnaped by your friend Lawson," he said grimly. "I managed to get her away from his toughs. Now for heaven's sake stop squawking; pull yourself together and try to be useful."

He trust open the study door with his foot, entered the room, and crossed to a small sofa. He did not see Lawson crouched against the wall. Mr. Little entered almost immediately behind him.

"Lawson! he exclaimed in an incredulous tone. 'Lawson! I don't believe . . ."

His voice died away abruptly in a choking gurgle as Lawson's knife slid neatly into his back below the shoulder blade, piercing to the heart.

Mahony heard Mr. Little gasp as he was laying Elsa down on the sofa. He turned quickly, just in time to see the back of a tall figure vanishing through the doorway. The door slammed to as Mr. Little, already dead, subsided in a heap on the floor.

Mahony stepped quickly forward and bent over Mr. Little. The hilt of the knife sticking out of his back made clear what had happened. The front door of the house slammed. From outside came the sound of a car engine accelerating. The sound faded.

Mahony withdrew the knife from Mr. Little's back, found some brandy, and tried to revive him. But a couple of minutes' effort showed him that it was useless, and he abandoned the attempt and paused to consider what his next move should be.

Again the front door-bell rang shrilly.

"Oh, damn!" said Mahony, and went to the window and looked out. On the front door-step stood a policeman.

From the sofa came a long, shuddering sigh. Elsa moved slightly; she stretched out her arms in the manner of one awakening from sleep, and opened her eyes wide. The sound of a movement from Mahony caused her to look in his direction.

As yet she had not fully recovered from the effect of the drug; she had a dazed, sleepy look. Her blue eyes, wide open, stared at Mahoney's masked, cowed figure with a bewildered question in them. She hardly seemed to know where she was, or how she got there.

The front door-bell rang again, insistently. Elsa looked away from Mahony towards the door. Her glance encountered the still, ghastly form of her uncle lying stretched out near the door. The knife, bloodied up to the hilt, was by him on the carpet.

She shrank back; her eyes opened wider; her hand went to her mouth in an instinctive gesture of horror and dismay. Then her mouth opened wide; she was about to shriek.

Mahony sprang forward, grabbed her two wrists and shook her slightly.

"No, stop it; you're not to," he said in a commanding voice. "Shrieking won't help."

She did not shriek. She did not even struggle.

Mahony let go her wrists, and she rose from the sofa and dropped to her knees by her uncle's side. She still had a dazed air. Over her uncle's body she looked at Mahony.

"You . . . you've killed him," she said in a low voice. "No I haven't," began Mahony. "I . . ."

Again there was the sound of a car drawing up outside the house. Mahony broke off his speech abruptly, cursing himself for a fool. What the devil was the good of hanging about trying to explain things? His only sensible course of action would be to get away as quickly as possible.

Elsa would certainly remember having been kidnaped by a masked man dressed as a monk. He himself was masked and dressed as a monk, and her uncle was murdered. It would be impossible to explain his presence in the room and clear himself of a charge of murder without telling all he knew about Billy Ross.

And even if he told all he knew about Ross, there was a good chance that he would not be believed, for he had no proofs of his story.

The front door-bell began ringing again. Mahony wasted no more time arguing with Elsa. He ran across the room, wiped the dagger quickly on his robe, opened the door, crossed the hall quickly, and opened the front door of the house.

On the front door-step stood a constable. Another man had just got out of a car and was mounting the steps to the front door to join him. By the light that streamed from the open door, Mahony recognized the new arrival as Lawson.

"Hello!" said Lawson in a surprised voice. "Who are you? And where's Miss Little?"

His intention obviously was to pretend that he knew nothing of Elsa's deliverance from the kidnapers or of her uncle's murder. (Copyright, 1938)

THERE ARE ONLY SIX BASIC METHODS OF COOKING MEAT

Cook books, magazines, newspapers give the homemaker hundreds, no, thousands of meat recipes, but each and every one of them is a variation of one of six simple methods of meat cookery. The woman who is familiar with these six methods will be able to tell at a glance whether the recipe she wants to follow in the preparation of the meat dish comes under the heading of roasting, broiling, pan-broiling, braising, stewing, or simmering. With the fundamental principles in mind, meat cookery is not difficult and success should be reasonably sure.

HOW TO ROAST

Season with salt and pepper. Place on rack with fat side up. This makes basting unnecessary. Do not add water and do not cover. Roast in a moderately slow oven (300-350 degrees F.) until the roast is done. (See individual recipes for the time required to cook beef, veal, lamb, and pork.) The meat thermometer is the best and the only sure way to tell when a roast is done. Beef may be cooked rare, medium, or well-done; lamb may be cooked medium or well-done; but veal and pork are always cooked to the well-done stage.

HOW TO BROWN

Preheat the broiling oven. Place meat on the rack with the top surface of the meat 3 inches from the heat. If this is not possible, reduce the heat so that the meat will cook at a moderate temperature. Broil on one side until nicely browned. Sprinkle with salt, turn and broil on the other. Only this one turning is necessary. Serve at once on a hot platter. Steaks for broiling should be at least one inch thick; chops not less than three-quarters inch thick.

HOW TO PANBROIL

Heat a heavy frying pan sizzling hot. Place meat in hot pan. Do not add water and do not cover. Brown nicely on both sides. Reduce the temperature and continue to cook until done, turning frequently. Pour off fat as it accumulates in the pan so that the meat will broil—not fry.

HOW TO BRAISE

Season the meat with salt and pepper and dredge with flour. Brown on all sides in hot lard. Add a small amount of liquid—more may be added as it cooks away. Cover closely and cook slowly until tender. The cooking time depends on the size of the cut. Many meat dishes are cooked by braising. Among them are: pot-roast, fricassee, Swiss steak, pork chops, round steak, flank steak.

HOW TO STEW

Cut meat into 2-inch cubes. Season with salt and pepper. Brown on all sides in hot lard. The browning may be omitted. Add hot water just to cover. Cover the kettle and simmer gently until done. Do not boil. Add vegetables just long enough before serving to have them tender. Variety in stews may be obtained by using different vegetable combinations and different platter arrangements.

HOW TO SIMMER

Cover meat with boiling water. Season with salt and pepper, except for cured pork or corned beef. Cook slowly at a simmering temperature. Vegetables such as cabbage, potatoes, carrots, etc., may be added, if desired.

ONLY ALIENS CAN GAMBLE AT MONTE CARLO, FAMED MONACAN RESORT...

PIGMY WHALES - of New Zealand waters, GROW ONLY 20 FEET LONG - YET BLUE WHALES OFTEN ARE 20 FEET LONG AT BIRTH!

THE VICTORIA CROSS . . . Originated in the year 1856, the Victoria Cross was first intended to have been awarded only for acts of conspicuous gallantry performed in the presence of the enemy. Queen Victoria of England developed the idea during the Crimean War. However, in 1858 it was decided that the great medal could be won by an act of bravery not performed in the presence of the enemy, a condition that remained in existence until 1881, when the original stipulations were restored. Only man ever to win the Cross under those exceptional conditions was Private Timothy O'Hea of the First Battalion of the Rifle Brigade who, during the Fenian Raid in Canada in 1866, helped extinguish a fire on an ammunition train. Nowadays the Victoria Cross may be won by any Englishman, whether he be in the army, navy, Royal Marines, Royal Air Force, or a civilian serving with one of these forces. Anyone holding the Victoria Cross is provided with a pension and, in case of infirmity, a larger annuity. First man to win the Cross was a sailor, Charles D. Lucas, for services during the Crimean War in 1854, two years before the medal was originated.

In Union There Is Efficiency

Coastline conversations anent a proposed junior college in that area are turning more and more to the possibility of consolidation with Santa Ana and the construction of a major, modern plant in a central location. Witness this article from the Laguna Beach South Coast News:

Approval having been given to the coast junior college proposal by the Orange County Coast association, the question is being asked by parents and business men, "where will the 300 students come from for the junior college? Why wouldn't Huntington Beach have the right to demand such a college be established there? And how would the plant be financed?"

Four school districts are embraced by the proposed junior college project: Huntington Beach, Newport Beach, San Juan Capistrano and Laguna Beach.

Combined assessed valuation of these districts is $56,934,125, of which $33,551,775 is Huntington Beach's share.

This top-heavy contribution from Huntington Beach would give that school the privilege of demanding the junior college be established there, was claim made today.

Were Santa Ana and Tustin to be included in the plan, according to non-members of the Coast association who are studying the proposal, the number of students necessary for maintenance of such an institution could be obtained.

It certainly seems that a big, central consolidated junior college plant would provide benefits to student and taxpayer alike that could not be achieved by two small separated units.

If FDR will just lower the prices of everything we buy and raise the prices of everything we can't use, that will be just "jake."

Land of Paganism

Although 24,000,000 American children are enrolled for religious education, almost an equal number receive no religious instruction whatever, Dr. Roy G. Ross, executive secretary of the International Council of Religious Education, told the convention of that organization in Chicago recently.

"These millions who are growing up without the sphere of any religious influence, either Catholic, Protestant or Jewish, are the grave concern of both the church and the state," he said.

"They are the breeding ground of crime and delinquency and they form by far the greatest challenge of the generation to the idealistic and ethical teachings of religion."

"Paganism raises its head among young and old. And what do we find as to results?"

"A growing apathy to the obligations of citizenship, social strife, indifference to the church and neglect of the moral sanctions."

That which affects the boys and girls of this nation vitality affects the nation itself, and the human race as well.

Our nation will be exactly as moral, as decent, as ethical, as highly-purposed as our boys and girls are trained to be.

Not By-pass!

A Word To the Wise

The famous courthouse typewriter squabble has been settled—permanently, we hope.

Justice Barnard of the fourth district court of appeals has sustained Superior Judge Scovel's decision that county officials can buy their favorite make typewriter, regardless of what the purchasing agent recommends.

Cost of the litigation and other items involved in the battle will run about $500, we understand.

But this loss will not hold a candle to the waste of efficiency and cooperation which county government has suffered through friction and quarrels over the matter.

Ever since the silly business started, one fiasco after another has taken place in the big red stone building, either on the part of some of the supervisors or of various elective officials.

The typewriter case is not the cause. It is merely a symptom of the fact that Orange county's government is badly in need of a pretty thorough overhauling. This overhauling probably will take place election time.

Meanwhile let us hope that the judicial finis to the typewriter fracas will act as a sedative to cases of acute indigestion in the body politic.

"Do right and fear no man," we used to read in our copybooks. We know an old cynic who now adds, do not write and fear no woman.

Raids Imperil Coast Fishing

Orange county can bid farewell to coast fishing as a lucrative sport that attracts and delights thousands of visitors if heavy commercial sardine fishing is to be tolerated continually in local waters.

Commercial raids are becoming more and more of a drain. One day this week a Journal representative counted 44 big fishing craft off Corona del Mar.

With 300 to 500 tons of fish taken a day from coastal waters, the supply will not last forever.

Once the sardines are gone, the game fish which feed on them will go, too.

When the game fish go, the sportsmen will go.
And when the sportsmen go, tourist dollars and local fishing fun will go.

Those raids stress the need for a coastal fishing preserve such as the state supreme court barred two years ago on a minor legal technicality. The move is necessary to protect an important one of Orange county's recreation resources from further depletion.

FAIR Enough

Mr. Hoover,
King G-Man Considered

By Westbrook
Pegler

KANSAS CITY.—From time to time Mr. J. Edgar Hoover, our modern young King Brady, who can solve a crime by smearing magic chemicals on an echo, has indicated his distrust of city and county police officials in certain parts of the country. Mr. Hoover has his little faults, including an operative temperament which prompts him to take a pleasure in intending for others, but his suspicions cannot be scoffed away as being due to professional jealousy.
Mr. Hoover knows something about the character of many local police organizations.

He knows, for example, that in Kansas City almost every cop is the protégé of some politician and that some of the politicians in the local machine are underworld leaders.

UNDERWORLD HOOKUP
The ruling machine openly plays ball with the underworld, and it is obvious, therefore, that if Mr.
Hoover should open his heart to the local police there would be a dangerous chance that the criminals under investigation would be tipped off. That risk is inherent in a system which permits gambling-house magnates to place envoys in the police organization.

The policeman's political sponsor may be a racketeer who derives his influence from his ability to turn out the vote for the machine in his zone of operations. He may be a lawyer in the criminal line and attorney for the man under suspicion. The possibilities are many where the underworld is publicly recognized as a legitimate political division and granted certain rights as such.

LOOKOUTS FOR CROOKS Suppose Mr. Hoover were investigating the activities of a criminal adherent of the Pendergast machine with a good record of service to the organization. He would be appealing to the Kansas City police for cooperation he might discover that he had placed his trust in men who were, in effect, lookouts for the crook.
Evidence might be destroyed or concealed and witnesses adjusted or sent away.

The great series of kidnappings and other wild crimes in St. Paul, regarding which Homer Cummings remarked that there was something rotten in St. Paul, could not have happened if the local police had been trustworthy.
Naturally, therefore, in many places the department of justice men have a feeling that they must outwit not only the criminals but the police as well. Hot Springs, Ark., is another stamping ground of criminals, and there are shereffs in some Missouri counties whom even the police of Kansas City look down upon as unreliable and the partners and protectors of crooks.

SPOT MACHINE INFLUENCE
It may be an old story to the residents of those regions, but the country at large does not understand that there are towns and rural districts in the midwestern crime belt as tough as any of our big cities at their worst. The slot machine has had much to do with this development, a business so popular with the citizens and lucrative to the racketeer that it has money enough to influence elections and demand considerable treatment from officials who, by any decent system, should bound it constantly.

In Kansas City the frank policy of the machine is to bribe the criminal element to refrain from violent and spectacular misdemeanors which tend to make bad publicity and give the town an evil name. The bribe consists of a license to rob the citizens and wayfarers with phony dice and marked cards in gambling joints which pay their dues the last red cent or we won't accept anything."

Yet there isn't a single member of congress who, as an individual, would adopt any such attitude if somebody owed him money. On the contrary, he would actively set about to collect—if not 100 cents on the dollar, then 90 cents, or 50, or 25, or even 10 cents on the dollar. In private business life it is considered good business to get something rather than nothing.

Six billion dollars in hand now would look pretty good to the U.
S. treasury. For that matter, so would two billions—one to pay for the new navy program and the other billion for relief.

But congressmen who, as individuals, would be realistic in dealing with private debts, think in terms of politics when dealing with debts due the government.
Thus they continue to talk pom-pously about collecting every last penny of the war debts—but collect nothing—and the taxpayers, as usual, pay for their folly—

POSTLUDE
A schoolmaster, giving a music lesson, inquired whether the pupils had any favorite anthem they would like to sing.

of the lads.

"Now, tell me, what made you think of the national anthem?"

"Because," replied the boy, "then it's time to go home."—Edinburgh

EVERYDAY MOVIES

"An' let me tell you, Mr. Murray, my girl's a prize for someone—why, she can make seven kinds of soup out of a potato."

Twenty-Five Years Ago

FEB. 24, 1913

WASHINGTON.—President Elect Woodrow Wilson today revealed a partial list of his proposed cabinet officers. They include William J. Bryan, secretary of state; Williams Gibbs McAdoo, new York, secretary of the treasury; Josephus Daniels, North Carolina, secretary of the navy;
Albert Burleson, Texas, postmaster-general; and probably Chancelor Walker of New Jersey, attorney-general.

WASHINGTON.—With prospect of armed opposition to the new provisional government in Mexico reduced to a few small threatened uprisings it is the opinion of administration officials here that chances for the use of U. S. military arms to protect American interests have greatly diminished.

Charged with attempting to burn down the Anaheim jail, Ed Hold was called for trial before Superior Judge Z. B. West this morning, and a jury was quickly impaneled. District Attorney L.
A. West predicted this afternoon case would be finished before the day is over. Attorney J.
Howard Bell is representing the defendant.

What Other Editors Say

THOSE WAR DEBTS AGAIN
The President recently discussed the war debts briefly with a small group of administrative and congressional advisers but they didn't get very far.

Congress, it seems, is still hostile to any settlement short of 100 cents on the dollar, payments to be in gold. As the debtor nations can't possibly meet these terms, there isn't going to be any settlement.

All of which, we think, makes Uncle Sam a pretty stupid creditor.

With something like 12 billion dollars due the United States, and the debtors unable to pay it all in cash but willing to pay what they can, our congressmen reply:
"You'll pay us the last red cent
or we won't accept anything."

Yet there isn't a single member of congress who, as an individual, would adopt any such attitude if somebody owed him

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

Harry Woodring, Secretary of War, Through Chance Gets Brass Ring

WASHINGTON.—Nicest and most inoffensive man in the Roosevelt cabinet is Harry Woodring, accidental secretary of war.

Harry's life has been just one incident after another, and being very much like a cat with nine lives, he somehow manages to land on top.

Harry's first big political accident was the rift between Kansas Republicans in 1930 which found liberal Gov. Clyde Reed at odds with conservative John Hamilton, now chairman of the Republican National committee. While their backs were turned, Harry sneaked into the governor's chair in Topeka.

The next accident occurred in 1933, when Pat Malloy of Oklahoma was offered the job of assistant secretary of war and, being in a high-hat mood, refused, only to wake up next morning with terrible pains of anguish to find that the vacancy had been given to Harry Woodring.

ACCIDENT NO. 3 Accident No. 3 occurred with the death of the secretary of war, George Dern, and accident No. 4 followed close on its heels when the President discovered a law providing that no "acting" secretary of war could remain "acting" for more than 30 days. So with other things to think about in the middle of the 1936 campaign, Roosevelt made Harry his bona fide secretary of war.

Everyone expected that the President would re-shuffle his cabinet after re-election, and that Harry would be shuffled out.

But here the stork played into Harry's hands. He and his lovely wife, the daughter of Sen.
Marcus Coolidge, have been so busy having babies that the President, being rather a paternal person, hasn't had the heart to transfer Harry elsewhere.

ACCIDENTAL AIR JUNKET
Other accidents have occurred in the life of Harry Woodring, and one of the more recent ones has been bringing him a lot of acclaim.
This is the trip of the six giant army bombers to Buenos Aires.

Real truth is that Harry vetoed this trip. The State Department put it up to him several weeks ago and urged that the planes be sent to President Ortiz's inauguration as a move to offset Bruno Mus-solini's flight. But Harry said no.
He didn't have any planes to be wasted on a junket of this kind.

Then by the sheerest accident a newspaper man who writes for various South American newspapers thought of the idea of sending bombers to Argentina, and went to the State Department. It replied that the idea already had been turned down by Woodring.

But the newspaper man, knowing how things run in the War Department, went around Woodring to his assistant secretary of war, Louis Johnson. Johnson, who is a dynamic, hard-hitting individual, thought the idea was grand, and immediately took it to the President.

F. D. R. STEPS IN Roosevelt was equally enthusiastic, and sent a virtual order to Woodring that six army bombers should fly to Buenos Aires for the inauguration of the Argentine president. The President did not say.

My Scotch uncle, Esophagus
Bloomer, liked his wife's hat, even though he took several years getting used to it. He liked it so much, in fact, that he doesn't know yet why she got another one
for their 30th wedding anniversary.

Judge Stump
Dear Judge: Has any husband ever liked his wife's new hat?
P. T. E.

My Scotch uncle, Esophagus
Bloomer, liked his wife's hat, even though he took several years getting used to it. He liked it so much, in fact, that he doesn't know yet why she got another one
for their 30th wedding anniver-

STUMP.
A colonel of one of the Bengal regiments once complained, at a party, that because of the ignorance and inattention of the officers, he was obliged to do the whole duty of the regiment. Said he: "I am my own major, my own captain, my own lieutenant, my own ensign, my own sergeant, and my own trumpeter," said a woman present.—Tid-Bits.

The Mailbag

Public opinion, or what somebody in office imagines to be public opinion, is our ruler. If public opinion is active, the politicians and people sit up and take notice. There is a definite need for outspoken talking and thinking on public matters. So intelligent fair discussion of our problems is immensely useful. So that every citizen may have his say and contribute to the formation of public opinion, The Journal invites letters to The Mailbag.

DEPLORABLE CONDITIONS

To the Editor: I want to commend the excellence of the articles you are running on the Orange county low-cost housing situation.
Mr. Guido's articles are simple, direct and obviously sincere. Anyone who has done the smallest amount of relief work among those settlements knows that he isn't telling half the truth.

I took a physician one day last winter to visit a little old lady who was bed-ridden in an old chicken house. We could see the sky through the boards of the roof above her head. The room was lined with old newspapers, as far up as she had had papers to reach, to shut out the wind. (Remember last winter's wind?) And the deepest shame I have ever felt came to me when I saw her touching gratitude when I suggested we might get her more old papers to finish the room.

The "little old lady" we learned was 48 years old!

If you can help us do something about this appalling situation you will be taking a grievous burden off the shoulders of a great many people besides the poor whom you move into warm, dry houses.

Gratefully yours,
JULIA N. BUDLONG,
Pastor, Unitarian Church.

DANCES HELLEVATING

To the Editor: My mother's dances. How well I remember how she conducted them; and I would love to know if the one who signed himself "A Pastor" and who says he used to dance (the old time dance) had a mother similar to mine.

My mother was left a widow with eight boys and one girl to support. Consequently the old time dance was essential. I well remember how she did the fiddling and we boys did the calling and yelling and dancing. But there was no hugging and squeezing and when the dance was over the basement of our trousers were thinner, and I suppose that is where the idea originated that clothes are not really necessary in a modern dance hall and whisky joint.

My mother told us boys that the dance was born in H-- and fathered by the Devil and she didn't confine her statement to large cities, neither did she say in the Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., Ebell, country club or house ardor. And after 46 years of observation I don't believe there has been a better definition for the dance, oldtime or modern.

I see one critic lays all young people's troubles to the automobiles and also suggests that "A Pastor" elevate his mind. So I would suggest to all young people who sit in automobiles to park near one of these lovely dance halls and go in quite often and elevate their mind.

In conclusion, let me suggest that Mr. Critic go to church every Sunday for the next five years, and then, I believe he will say that it is a better place to elevate the mind than any dance hall; and if he finds the automobile a bad place and that it is lowering his thinking, then to walk like I do.

I walk, however, because I have no automobile but I have ridden in automobiles and sat in them when they were standing still with no noticeable bad effects. There could be much more said, but to say the least (borrowing from the Englishman) the dance is Hel-levating.

NOVELIST BEGINS AT 60
William de Morgan began his career as a novelist after he was 60 years old.

There comes a hopeful note from William J. Cameron of the Ford Motor company. He says that the employment of people of 45 and older is constantly on the increase. Well, that is one indication that America is growing up.

If any of you feel that you are being regarded as old, get out and exercise, come in, take a bath "spruce up," and see if you don't feel years younger. And read.
Read inspiring, encouraging books.
Don't let yourself down.

Bright Moments

Lord Derby, the English statesman of the 19th century, had a good friend, a commoner, who had married the daughter of a well-known duke. During the wedding something for the man advised raising him to the peerage, and he was forthwith made a baron. A few months later, meeting the lady, who had been ranked considerably, since she had lost precedence in the social scale because the daughter of a duke ranked higher than a baroness, almost refused to take his arm as they walked in to dinner. "I hesitate to give you my arm, Lord Derby," said the lady. "I have not seen you since you dishonored me." "Hush," whispered Lord Derby; "don't say a word about it and no one will find us out."

YOU TELL ONE
Bride—I must make a terrible confession to you. I can't cook.
Bridegroom—Aw, that's all right, dear. I've a confession to make to you. I'm a poet and there won't be anything to cook.

TODAY'S FABLE
Once upon a time a man re-never mentioned Mussolini.

"I always think twice before I

"Oh, all right," he said wearily,
"but make it snappy."

AHA!
A colonel of one of the Bengal regiments once complained, at a party, that because of the ignorance and inattention of the officers, he was obliged to do the whole duty of the regiment. Said
he: "I am my own major, my own
captain, my own lieutenant, my own ensign, my own sergeant, and
my own trumpeter," said a

CARNEGIE'S

Day-By-Day
Philosophy

This country has been going through a period of "doom the middle-aged." Just why, no one seems to understand. This trend of thought seems to be peculiarly American. In England, the men in the best jobs are men of experience; and England seems to know how to look out for itself very well indeed. In France, Germany, Switzerland, Scandinavia, the men are not shelved because they have passed 40. I myself am past 40, and I have done more work and I believe better work during the past few years than ever before. And certainly I have no intention of stopping for years to come. The only way I can account for our attitude is that we have overestimated our youth, and our youth has underestimated age and experience. Being a young and ardent country, we have overdone the youth movement!

LET'S CONSIDER Let's go over this subject, and find out how much we who are over 40 contribute to the theory that a man has outlived his usefulness when he reaches middle-age.

First, do we look old? That is, do we fail to take care of our personal appearance?

Do we keep our clothes pressed and our hair trimmed neatly? A first glance may cause you to be classed as passé!

Do we keep ourselves physically fit by doing the right kind of food—vegetables, fruits, and just enough of the energizing foods to keep us going strong, and not enough to weight us down?

Do we practice old and tired habits, i. e., slump as we sit, shuffle as we walk? We are likely to do this if we don't feel physically fit.

DO WE KEEP YOUNG?
Do we keep young mentally, by reading, by exercising our minds with those younger than we? Do we adapt our thinking to the modern trend or do we insist upon laying down the law on a theory of 20 years ago? Dr. Charles H.
Mayo, the eminent surgeon, says:
"We find
